Sacked

Q. I make Christmas stockings by hand for children and personalize them by putting the names on each individual stocking. I package these stockings in the plastic bags which cover The Independent on rainy mornings. I've been saving them over the year, but just don't have enough. Mrs. P.S.F., Long Beach.

A. Santa Claus by now should have delivered to your home bags and bags of plastic bags for all the stockings you might make in the next two years. Just so you fill 'em, that's all he asks. It'll save him some extra duty this year.

New Lease

Q. I'm interested in leasing some government property in the mountain areas somewhere near Barton Flats and Seven Oaks in the San Bernardino Mountains. Can you tell me where I can find out what kind of property is available on a long-term lease basis within driving distance from Long Beach? R.S., Long Beach.

A. About the only way to lease federal land in California is to purchase an existing lease from a current holder, according to Mark Petty, district ranger for the U.S. Forest Service in Mill Creek. He says the government has not issued any new leases in the area you ask about for nearly 20 years, although some land is still being leased through special use permits in other areas of the state — one area being near Shasta Lake. Petty says no new leases are being sold in any area within an easy day's driving distance of Los Angeles. "New leases have not been issued because the department feels that public land should be primarily for public use," Petty explains. The government doesn't publish lists of existing rentals which are for sale, so your best bet would be to ask a local realtor, or wander through the mountains until you see a "For Sale" sign.

Sea-Going Buddies

Q. I've ordered a three-volume set of books on poisonous and venomous marine animals from the U.S. Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D.C., and haven't received the last two volumes. I should have received the second book last spring. Can you help check this for me? W.A., Lawndale.

A. The second volume of the massive work is still in the proofing stages, and won't be ready to go to press until January, says Mrs. Katherine Jackson of the Office of the Superintendent of Documents. Volume three probably won't be on the presses until the end of next year, so you have a pretty long wait. But Mrs. Jackson says your name is on the list, and you'll receive the books when they're ready for mailing.

Tool Up

Q. I have recently become skipper to a Sea Explorer Scout unit. We have 17 eager boys and a fine boat but are in need of small hand tools to keep our vessel shipshape. Could ACTION LINE help us out? D.R., Long Beach.

A. Yes. Don Kane, owner of Ace Sales and Surplus, 17913 Bellflower Blvd., Bellflower, says he has some used tools you can have. You may contact him at 925-2844 to make arrangements.

Big Shot

Q. I've been interested in the space program of the country for many years, but I've never seen a live launching of a rocket. Is it possible to view a launching at Vandenberg Air Force Base? How would I go about it? K.B.L., Bellflower.

A. You can see a rocket lift-off at Vandenberg only if you are touring the base at the time of a launching, says Lt. Ron Tollefson, Vandenberg public information officer. He explains that most of the base's launchings are for the military, and therefore are classified — no announcement of the lift-off is made until after the missile has left the pad. However, if you're touring the base with a group at the time of such a launching, no effort is made to prevent you from seeing it. "We're only concerned that classified lift-offs are not made public ahead of the actual firing," Tollefson says. A few "open" launchings by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are publicized a few days in advance, he adds. However, because of the essentially closed purpose of the base, and because of its limitation on public access, there is no way for groups to schedule their tours to coincide with an "open" launching, Tollefson says. Last-minute changes in launching schedules also are frequent. Vandenberg opens its doors to about 20,000 people annually, and to arrange a tour for a group of not less than 30 persons, write to the Community Relations Branch, First Strategic Aerospace Division, Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., at least one month in advance.

This'll Jar You

Q. I have 100 empty, wide-mouth jars and covers and more to come. Can you find someone who can use these? P.W., Long Beach.

A. Yes. Jean Peterson, crafts teacher at Millikan High School, 2800 Snowden Ave., Long Beach, says the jars can be used to store paints. Contact her at 425-7441.

REACTION

I was deeply touched by the letter you ran recently from A.J. about Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk. On the writer's excellent suggestion, I collected and sent packages to the hospital. For this I want no thanks, only to let A.J. know that her letter did some good and that the kind of anonymous giving she described is the real Christmas spirit. H.V., Long Beach.

LBJ Visits Troops in Viet; Says Reds Can't Win Now

Due to Meet Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Amid reports President Johnson would stop in Rome for talks with Pope Paul VI, the Pontiff Friday asked the United States to quit bombing North Vietnam "in the name of the defenseless." He also asked Hanoi to show a "serious desire" for peace.

Informed sources said Johnson would spend about five hours in Rome and the Vatican before flying back to Washington and finishing his globe-girdling trip that began last Wednesday.

The Italian Communist Party called for massed anti-Johnson demonstrations. Johnson was also expected to confer with Italian President Giuseppe Saragat.

THE POPE, meanwhile, said the war in Vietnam could be stopped only through "frank and faithful" negotiations. The 70-year-old pontiff, in an address to the Roman Curia, Picture on Page A-2 said he had previously urged the United States to stop bombing North Vietnam.

He said he was doing it again "in the name of the defenseless."

"At the same time, we again invite the other belligerent... to give a sign of serious desire for peace," the Pope said in obvious reference to North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

The Pope said he hoped those who could "authoritatively exert pressure in this sense" were behind his appeal to the North Vietnamese.

But in Thailand, the President seemed to be adversely reacting to the Pope's plea for a bombing halt, when he said: "Air power is providing the mobility which meets and matches the stealth of an enemy whose tactics are based on sudden hit and run raids." He said the air attacks were bringing closer every week "the time of peace for which we all pray."

QUALIFIED INFORMANTS said Johnson would probably fly from Rome's Ciampino Airport by helicopter to the presidential palace for talks with Saragat, then drive to the Vatican to see the Pope.

Johnson has met Pope Paul only once. That was when the pontiff went to New York in October 1965, to address the United Nations General Assembly. The two men have exchanged letters frequently.

The last visit to the Vatican by an American president was John F. Kennedy's call on Pope Paul in 1963. Johnson would be the Pope's first prominent foreign visitor since his prostate gland surgery last month.

The war "continues to occupy a prominent place" in his mind, the Pope said.

"Without any personal interest and impassioned only by the human values in the balance," the Pope said, "we have dared to offer our defenseless collaboration, disposed to cooperate in the most efficacious way so that everything will be asked and granted to restore a true peace."

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)

—A massive power outage plunged the major population areas of Idaho and parts of Utah, Wyoming and Oregon into darkness at 10:55 p.m. Friday. Power was partially restored at Boise, Idaho, 36 minutes after the blackout. Power to other parts of the four states had still not been restored 45 minutes later.

TWO SEAMEN HIT BY CAR, ONE KILLED

A Wilmington man was booked on suspicion of felony manslaughter Friday after a car struck two Chinese merchant seamen, killing one, according to Los Angeles police.

Kao C. Shyong, 30, was dead on arrival at Harbor General Hospital following the 9 p.m. accident at Anacapa St. and Fries Ave., near Berth 187 in Wilmington. His fellow seaman, Lee Kwe Feng, 29, was in critical condition at Harbor General.

Both were serving on the SS Orient Pearl.

Harbor Division officers later arrested William Daugherty, 53, of 534 Gulf Ave., Wilmington. Police said a witness to the accident directed them to Daugherty, found parked two blocks away from the scene. He was also booked on suspicion of felony hit and run.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President John Summerskill of San Francisco State College acted "with prudence" in handling a campus riot Dec. 6, an investigatory group decided in a closed meeting Friday.

However, the group — comprising a task force of trustees of California state colleges — also decided to reconvene Jan. 5 for further review of the case.

THE QUALIFIED endorsement of Summerskill was based on "the hearing of the Board of Trustees on Dec. 9 and other evidence adduced at the Assembly Education Committee hearings, together with supplementary written material and statements made at today's meeting of the task force."

The review was initiated after an uprising by Black Power and antiwar demonstrators which left some of the administration and classroom buildings in disarray. Summerskill, not present at the closed hearing, has said he acted Dec. 6 "in accordance with the advice of the chief of police of San Francisco."

DONALD M. HART of Bakersfield, chairman of the trustees' task force, said two trustees invited to Friday's proceedings were subsequently asked to leave the meeting because they were not members of the task force.

have a right to appear at committee meetings and present their views on the subject," said Hart, "but during the deliberations of the committee no one has a right to be present except members of the committee."

Asked to leave were trustees George Hart of San Francisco and Paul Spencer of San Dimas.

Upon departing George Hart was asked by newsmen if the meeting constituted a star chamber session. He said: "I wouldn't quite go that far; after all, they're my colleagues."

Chairman Donald Hart said the committee's final conclusion after the Jan. 5 meeting will be "based solely on the merits." Summerskill's future as president depends upon the ultimate findings of the task force.

Dr. Walcott Beatty, president of the Academic Senate at the San Francisco campus, told newsmen he gave the task force meeting a resolution promising "collective action" by faculty members if Summerskill is fired.

WARM DAYS FORECAST ON WEEKEND

A continuing warming trend is expected to provide the Long Beach area with sunny warm weather throughout the weekend, the forecaster said Friday night.

Elsewhere in the Southland there may be gusty winds today and Sunday, but locally, they are expected to be only light and variable.

The same sunny, fair conditions are also likely to last through Christmas Day, with afternoon temperatures hovering between 72 and 74 degrees.

Today's outlook for Long Beach is a high of 72, with clear skies.

Bank Bandit Uses Grenade

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Holding a hand grenade, a bandit robbed a Bank of America branch of $23,800 in cash. All 16 employees lay on the floor, at his demand, and lending officer John Tornnessen emptied the cash into a duffel bag.

Later a grenade pin was found on the floor of the bank and police said the weapon probably was a dud.

The only thing that gives you more for your money than it did 10 years ago is the penny you put in the scale at the drugstore.

2,450 GIs Hail the President

SAIGON (UPI) — President Johnson paid a Christmas visit to America's fighting men in Vietnam Saturday at the giant U.S. base at Cam Ranh Bay. He told the troops their country stood solidly behind them and urged them to ignore dissenters at home.

Johnson's plane took off shortly after the visit on the next leg of his journey. The President's travel plans have been wrapped in secrecy because of security, but he was expected to be back in Washington on Christmas Eve, with an expected stop in Rome for a visit with Pope Paul VI.

The khaki-clad commander-in-chief visited injured troops at the 12th Air Force Hospital at the base and pinned purple hearts on the pajamas of some of the wounded.

In a whirlwind one-hour and 45-minute tour, the President also conferred with 30 of his top field commanders and addressed 2,450 troops lined up under a warm sun on the runway.

"The enemy cannot win now in Vietnam," Johnson told the troops. "I bring you the assurance of what you have fought to achieve."

"HE CAN HARASS, he can terrorize, he can inflict casualties while taking far greater losses himself," Johnson said of the Communist enemy. "But he cannot win. You—each of you—has seen to that."

"This Christmas like many we have known comes at a time of testing for our country," Johnson told the troops. "This time it is a test of will: Whether we have the vision and the steady hand to see through a grave challenge to freedom."

"You have met that test. There is no doubt of that. And the last thing I can bring to you is the promise that your fellow Americans will meet theirs, too. We shall not fail you," the President said.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky were among those greeting the President.

Johnson flew to the sprawling base under tight security from Korat Air Base in Thailand, where he had spent the night. He flew to Korat from Australia Friday, where he attended memorial services for Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt.

It was Johnson's second

ON RIDE WITH 500 OTHERS

Bowl Team Stranded

ANAHEIM (AP) — An estimated 500 persons, including the entire Indiana University offensive football team, were stranded 30 feet in the air for two hours Friday on a ride at Disneyland.

The tourists were aloft in four-passenger electric-powered cars called "people movers" when power failed. With the football players were the Tournament of Roses queen, Linda Strother, and some of her court.

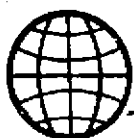

"For the first hour it was a joke," reported a shivering rider after operators gave up trying to restore power and began getting passengers down with extension ladders. "But when the sun went down it got cold and stopped being a joke."

Indiana's defensive team went on the amusement park ride before the power failure occurred, as did the University of Southern California squad.

Jets Raid MIG Base Near Hanoi

Combined News Services

SAIGON, Saturday — U.S. warplanes today flew through heavy monsoon clouds and used radar to guide their bombs on a North Vietnamese MIG base and other targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas and on the ground elements of a brigade of newly arrived U.S. paratroopers on a jungle training mission ran into a band of Communist guerrillas Friday and scattered them after a heavy fight. Air Force pilots bombed the Kep MIG Base, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi, while other pilots hit the Yen Bai storage area 64 miles northwest of the North Vietnamese capital and a railroad siding and storage area 15 miles northwest. The monsoon clouds had kept American pilots away from the Hanoi and Haiphong areas on Thursday, but they flew through the threatening clouds and guided their bombs by radar.

The American paratroopers were elements of the U.S. 101st "Screaming Eagle" Airborne Division, who arrived in Vietnam Dec. 9. The paratroopers killed 14 Viet Cong in the fight 35 miles northeast of Saigon. There was no report on American casualties.

American troops were reported Friday to have moved into war Zone D, the Communists' longtime jungle sanctuary northeast of Saigon, and was occupying part of it on a permanent basis for the first time. U.S. forces have established at least two permanent camps for artillery positions in the heavily jungled area. The camps will serve as bases for patrols searching for underground Viet Cong supply dumps and fortifications believed to abound in the thick foliage.

De Gaulle Frees a General

PARIS — Edmond Jouhaud, former air force general who led a killer commando unit in the Secret Army Organization during France's Algerian war, was freed Friday on a presidential pardon. Jouhaud was serving a life sentence. He was sentenced to death in 1962 for treason and rebellion. President De Gaulle commuted his sentence to life imprisonment seven months later. Jouhaud was made a five-star general and appointed air force chief of staff after he helped lead the May 13, 1958 uprising.

Mao Followers Feared Overthrown

HONG KONG — Some left-wing adherents of Mao Tse-tung were so pessimistic about the course of the power struggle in China this fall that they feared the Communist party chairman might have to flee Peking. A Red China publication quoted Premier Chou En-Lai as saying that he became aware of this mood of pessimism in meetings with Red Guard students. "Some people who believed Chairman Mao did not have majority support were ready to follow Chairman Mao to the mountains to wage guerrilla warfare," Chou was quoted as saying. Chou was quoted as having told 300 Red Guard delegates that such gloomy fears were based on the "particular outlook" of some leftists who regarded measures to moderate the "cultural revolution," or purge, as a betrayal. These persons, Chou said, feared a "capitalist and counter-revolutionary restoration" and even believed that it was necessary to seize arms from the Chinese army and "to start a civil war."

Nation Locked in Grip of Winter

Winter arrived across the country Friday with a deadening chill that locked most of the nation in sub-freezing weather. Winslow, Ariz., had a record low of 12 degrees. Bismarck, N.D., had 18 degrees below zero. Fargo, N.D., recorded 10 below. The death toll in New Mexico, where eight days of snow ravaged most of the state, reached six when two Navajo Indians were found apparently frozen to death. Eight persons died on the Navajo reservation in Arizona. Cold-wave warnings were posted over Ohio, parts of New York state, and Pennsylvania. Freeze warnings were posted in Mississippi, Texas and Louisiana. The southwest continued to dig out from its devastating snowstorm. The major problem was starvation of livestock if the snow remained on the ground. Chicagoans rose to morning temperatures of 15 degrees, a 46-degree sudden plunge from Thursday's muggy 61.

The temperature climbed to 61 degrees in New York, nearing an all-time record. Cold wave warnings were issued Friday night for Ohio, West Virginia and western portions of Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York. Clear skies helped speed rescue operations for the snow-bound inhabitants of the Navajo reservation in Arizona. The Bureau of Indian Affairs flew four wheel drive snowplows with Indian crews and mechanics from northern Indian reservations to the snow-stricken Navajo country where 2,000 miles of roads have been made impassable by almost seven feet of snow and shifting drifts. Nine persons have died as result of the storm and thousands are reported to be suffering from frost-bite or pneumonia. Through Thursday, 437,000 pounds of surplus government food had moved from Phoenix to the reservation, which is about the size of West Virginia. An added 160,000 pounds was to be sent Friday.

Flu Takes Toll in East, Dixie

ATLANTA — An increase in influenza or flu-like illnesses has contributed to heavy school absenteeism in Michigan, Alabama, Oklahoma, New York, Maryland, Ohio, Georgia and the District of Columbia, according to the national communicable disease center. The center confirmed for the first time the existence of influenza virus in Michigan. The center also said flu-like illnesses were now being reported in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. In Alabama, approximately 6,700 persons were treated for influenza in Mobile County during the week of Dec. 3. During the same period, it said, flu-like illness contributed to 30 per cent absenteeism at a parochial school in Tulsa, Okla., and 25 to 30 per cent absenteeism at a public school in Bartlesville, Okla. A virus also was reported in New York City and Westchester and Dutchess counties, N.Y.; in four Maryland counties; central Ohio; North Georgia and Washington, D.C.

McCarthy Appeals for Air Time

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy Friday appealed the television networks' rejection of his request for time to answer President Johnson's statement that his peace candidacy is linked to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. In a telegram to the FCC, McCarthy's campaign manager, Blair Clark, asked that the three networks, NBC, CBS, ABC, be directed to give the senator free air time. In rejecting McCarthy's request, the networks claimed that President Johnson was not a candidate for re-election and therefore the FCC's so-called fairness doctrine did not apply.

U.S. to Lift A-Secret Ban

WASHINGTON — The government Friday announced plans to ease up on some of its recently proposed regulations aimed at tightening control over private access to secret nuclear information. The AEC said it planned to lift a proposed ban that would have prevented private individuals and firms from swapping nuclear information — or from having access to one another's plants and equipment.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Combined News Services
A young woman, found unconscious in a St. Louis, Mo., city park and pronounced "dead" at City Hospital, gave twinges of life at the city morgue Friday afternoon and was rushed back to the hospital for emergency treatment. She was identified as Glenda Gampher, 23, a senior at the University of Missouri. Dr. Leo Mulligan said the girl was suffering from exposure. He described her condition as critical.

FAST FOR PEACE

Negro comedian Dick Gregory said Friday in New York he would extend to Jan. 1 his fast to protest the Vietnam war. He began the fast Thanksgiving Day. Gregory also said "I will not cut my hair, shave or wear conventional clothes until the war in Vietnam is over." He said he has had nothing but distilled water since Thanksgiving and now weighed 109 pounds. He said he weighed 158 pounds when he began the fast.

THREE MORE

The last of the six men indicted for conspiring to cheat at cards at the posh Friars Club in Beverly Hills surrendered to authorities Friday.

Those who surrendered Friday were Las Vegas, Nev., hotelman Maurice Friedman, 62, Manuel (Ricky) Jacobs, 48, a professional gambler, and T. Warner Richardson, 62, another Las Vegas hotelman.

Surrendering Thursday were Dr. Victor Lands, 53, a Beverly Hills physician; Johnny Roselli, 62; Beverly Hills, a onetime gangland figure, and Benjamin J. Teitelbaum, 53, a part-owner of a Hollywood film service. All were free on $5,000 bail each.

MOVIE TREAT

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters, spends his first Christmas in jail Monday, reportedly reconciled the immediate future provides no quick freedom.

Hoffa's Christmas will be much the same as the one for the other 1,650 inmates. It features a super turkey dinner and a movie treat.

THE END

The wife of folksinger Johnny Cash was granted a divorce Friday in Ventura. Vivian D. Cash had filed for divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty. Cash did not appear in court. Cash was ordered to pay $400 a month for child support of each of the couple's four children, aged 6 through 12.

HOSPITALIZED

Paul Robeson, 69-year-old Negro singer, actor and former star athlete, is in Philadelphia's University Hospital for treatment of a skin ailment. Robeson was admitted last Tuesday suffering from dermatitis, a skin inflammation, on his legs. He has been in ill health since suffering a physical breakdown in 1961 while playing to packed audiences in Europe.

RFK COLORS

The Robert F. Kennedys have mailed hundreds of pockish, garishly colored, psychedelic Christmas cards to friends and acquaintances.

On the front of the cards the words "Merry Christmas & a Happy New Year" are printed in pink over a red, orange, yellow field covered with tear-drop-like shapes of deep and light blues, yellows, greens and purples.

The centerfold of the cards shows, on a violet background, an antique car with the senator's 10 children in, on and around it. A sign above the car reads "Santa in '67."

In the lower-right corner of the back of the card is a photograph of Kennedy's face, his lips in a Mona Lisa smile. A balloon above the senator's head reads "Would you believe Santa in '68 too?"

TRIN'S KIN HURT

Jesse Lopez, younger brother of millionaire pop singer Trini Lopez, was critically injured Friday in a car accident in Dallas, Tex.

Jesse, 21, is a singer and performer in his own right and has performed in many Dallas, California and New York night spots.

Lopez' car was struck from behind on a freeway, causing his car to spin around and crash.

DOG OWNER

Two counts of involuntary manslaughter were lodged Friday against Ernest George Floyd, the owner of three dogs reportedly involved in the fatal attack Sunday on two young boys in Lynchburg, Va. One of Floyd's dogs, a mongrel, was shot and killed shortly after a pack of four dogs attacked and killed Gene Anthony Goodman, 5, and his brother, Kenneth Lee Goodman, 4, as they played on Floyd's wooded property.

BBC APOLOGY

The BBC has apologized for broadcasting an interview with American black power leader Stokely Carmichael.

The apology followed a complaint by opposition Conservative legislator Enoch Powell that "the BBC does a disservice by broadcasting material of this sort, which can only have the effect of wounding and inflaming feelings."

Carmichael was interviewed in Paris by Miss Patricia Philo on his way home to America.

"The interviewer went out of her way to ask Mr. Carmichael what he thought 'we black people in Britain should do to liberate ourselves.' She herself raised the question of strikes and of 'killing or something like that,'" said Powell.

LSD'S MR. BIG

Augustus Owsley Stanley III, arrested by agents in a narcotics raid in Orinda, is reputed to have made $1 million off LSD while a University of California student. Stanley was arrested with five other persons in a private home with an alleged $10.8-million worth of LSD.

GREEK SLIP

Mrs. Helen Vlachos, the Greek publisher, told reporters Friday how she dyed her hair with a toothbrush, took off her glasses and managed to escape the guards who have kept her under house arrest in Athens since October.

Mrs. Vlachos, whose magazine and newspapers have not appeared since the military junta took over in Athens last April, said in London she decided to escape after the failure of King Constantine to overthrow the ruling colonels. It is obvious there will be a "long period of waiting again" before another effort to overthrow the regime, she said, and "I decided to risk getting out."

FINANCE KING

Sir Hubert Nutcombe Hume, founder of the Charterhouse group of finance companies now valued at about $74.4 million, died Friday night at his London home after a short illness.

MONEY SPLIT

Division of a reputed $26 million fortune in the breakup of the marriage of Chicago heiress Donna J. Kneifel was the subject of two court actions in Los Angeles Friday.

In one section of Los Angeles County Superior Court, Mrs. Kneifel's estranged husband, Earle, 34, petitioned the court to declare him entitled to a half interest in the couple's holdings. In another section of the court, Commissioner Benjamin Ostrin postponed until Jan. 5 a hearing on Mrs. Kneifel's claim to clear title on properties she said were acquired with funds given her by her parents.

Kneifel concedes in his action that his wife received money from her parents. However, he contends the original gifts to her were far less than the present value of the couple's joint holdings.

Mrs. Kneifel, the daughter of Chicago insurance executive W. Clement Stone filed suit in November asking title to $500,000 worth of real estate in the Los Angeles Area.

L.B. Living Cost Increases Almost 1% in a Month

Cost of living in the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area increased nine tenths of one per cent last month, the U.S. Department of Labor said Friday.

Guild Hits Herex Reply on Pension

By GEORGE LAINE
The Los Angeles Newspaper Guild charged Friday that Los Angeles Herald-Examiner publisher George Hearst Jr. — who called a Guild proposal for a pension program "economically impossible" — has awarded such a program to non-union employees of the paper.

Robert J. Rupert, international representative for the American Newspaper Guild, produced a letter from Hearst to non-union employees, advising them of the plan.

Rupert said it was specified in the letter that the Hearst pension plan was to apply only to "those not covered by collective bargaining."

The plan, Rupert said, would pay $344.47 per month to $174.80-per-week employees at age 65. The Guild leader said the entire cost of the plan is being borne by the Hearst organization.

Management at the newspaper, reached by telephone, offered only a "no comment" on their strike position at this time. However, the paper printed a front-page notice Friday saying the paper is approaching "normal production quantities and distribution schedules."

"I would like to know what they're doing with the product," Rupert said. "We haven't been able to find a copy to buy for the Guild's strike office."

Land Purchase

A 15-acre parcel of land in Cerritos has been purchased for construction of a $1.5 million regional membership department store, city officials said Friday.

The November rise boosted the cost of living to 3.2 per cent above a year ago.

Sharply higher transportation costs resulting from the end of October gasoline price wars caused most of the increase.

Food prices, which trended downward during winter and spring months, swung upwards again in May.

November's increase of four tenths of one per cent marked the sixth consecutive monthly food price advance.

Housing, health and recreation and apparel costs also climbed.

Nationwide, living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in November, including increases in all commodities except food, the Labor Department reported Friday. A further rise is expected in December, which will round out the second highest yearly climb in living costs in 10 years.

Nationwide, grocery prices dropped three-tenths of one per cent last month, providing the major element of stability in living costs which otherwise rose even more than last year's 10-year-high increase of 3.3 per cent. The November climb brought the government's consumer price index to 117.8, meaning it cost $11.78 to purchase typical family goods and services worth $10 in the 1957-65 period in which the index is based.

THIEVES GET DRESS HAUL

More than $5,000 in dresses were stolen from Contempra Fashions, 3520 Long Beach Blvd., by burglars who used a trashcan to break a window, police said Friday.

Owner Legia Claton told officers 100 dresses were missing.

TOYS FOR TOTS

Maj. David Ramsey, Orange County coordinator of the U.S. Marine Corps annual Toys for Tots Christmas drive, fills shopping cart with playthings for needy youngsters at GEMCO's Anaheim store. With two assistants, Maj. Ramsey selected 960 toys in two hours. Bill for $1,049.00 was paid for by contributions from employees of Hughes Aircraft Co., Fullerton. In addition, GEMCO contributed extra toys representing 10 per cent of the Hughes total.

3 HOUNDS ATTACK CHILD, 7

MALIBU (UPI) — Three Irish wolfhounds were shot to death by a sheriff's deputy Friday after they bit him and a 7-year-old boy, who had to have 40 stitches to close his wounds.

Patrick Conroy was reported in satisfactory condition at Malibu Emergency Hospital, where the stitches were taken.

Deputy Charles Smith did not require hospitalization.

Neighbors hurled rocks at the three dogs to distract the animals from the boy.

Smith said the dogs attacked him when he went to the home of their owner to investigate the incident.

Merchant's Wife Held by Gunmen for Ransom

WHITTIER (AP) — The wife and child of a supermarket manager were held hostage Thursday by a gunman who forced her to telephone her husband and have him pay a $1,000 ransom, police said.

The bandit broke into the home of Robert Sorenson in East Whittier and ordered his wife, Josephine, 42, to telephone the demand.

He covered her and her 6 year-old son, Billy, with a pistol.

Sorenson, manager of Von's Market in the City of Industry, told police he was instructed to place the cash in a paper bag outside the rear door of the store. Police said an accomplice picked up the money and fled.

Mrs. Sorenson and Billy were bound with tape and placed in a closet.

Mrs. Sorenson managed to free herself and call police.

Archerd Better, Trial to Resume

William Dale Archerd, whose 14-day-old triple murder trial was interrupted Thursday when he suffered an apparent heart attack, will probably be well enough for the trial to resume Tuesday, doctors said Friday.

COAST GUARD CUTTER AIDS TOY MISSION

The Coast Guard cutter Point Stuart — often used for search and rescue missions — came to the aid of a group of toy-laden Boy Scouts on Santa Catalina Island Friday.

The toys had been collected by the Santa Catalina Boy Scout Camp as part of the Toys for Tots program for distribution to needy children on Christmas holidays.

But, the Coast Guard said, last minute changes caused original plans for transporting the toys to the mainland to run aground.

The Coast Guard sent the Point Stuart to deliver the toys to the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Depot where they were turned over to Toys for Tots officials.

sume Tuesday, doctors said Friday.

Archerd was stricken during prosecution testimony. Doctors at first suspected the former hospital aide might have administered a dose of insulin to himself, but examination at Los Angeles County General Hospital seemed to discount the theory.

Superior Court Judge Adolph Alexander recessed the trial Thursday until Tuesday morning, provided Archerd is ready.

Archerd is accused of murdering two of his six wives and a 15-year-old nephew from Long Beach by administering overdoses of insulin to them. He reportedly told one ex-wife who survived their marriage that insulin could be used to commit "the perfect murder."

ELECTRIC MASSAGER KILLS MAN

MONTEREY PARK (AP) — The vice president and treasurer of Global Marine, Inc., a Los Angeles drilling firm, was electrocuted Friday, police said, while using an electric hand massager in his bathroom.

He was William Johnston, 44, who made his home here. Officers said Johnston had just emerged from the shower and had stepped into a small puddle of water on the bathroom floor while using the device. The massager was grounded by a third wire, police said.

His wife, Martha, found him. Two sons, Andrew, 11, and Steven, 8, also survive.

Johnson Visits GIs in Vietnam

trip to Vietnam since becoming president. He also visited Can Ranh Bay on Oct. 27, 1966, after a summit meeting on Vietnam allies in Manila, the Philippines.

DRESSED in his khaki ranch-style outfit with a zippered jacket that he wore on his last visit to Vietnam, the President spoke both to the assembled troops on the two-mile Can Ranh Bay runway and to a gathering of patients at the hospital.

"I can bring you something more — news of a victory that is being won not only on a battlefield but in cities and villages all over Asia," Johnson said.

"It is a victory of confidence because of what you and our allies are doing here and throughout Asia," the President said. "They are already beginning to feel confident that the future belongs to them."

Can Ranh Bay is the largest base the United States ever built from the ground up in any foreign country. Its pair of two-mile-long runways are the largest in the world.

The huge base, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, is considered the most secure base in Vietnam.

"I wish you all could be home for Christmas," Johnson told the hospital patients, some of them in wheel chairs. "All your friends and loved ones will be thinking of you."

Johnson spoke to the wounded in a surgical ward at the hospital. Most of his audience were Marines who had been wounded while manning positions along the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams. At the airport, he climbed into a jeep and reviewed the troops. He then mounted a stage and told them, "I hope you will stand at ease."

The troops took off their helmets and moved in around the President.

JOHNSON AWARDED the Medal of Freedom to Bunker, and Distinguished Service Medals to both Westmoreland and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, deputy commander of American forces in Vietnam.

There had been speculation that Johnson might fly to Rome to meet Pope Paul VI and Italian President Giuseppe Saragat. Vatican and Italian officials rushed preparations for a Johnson visit in Rome early Saturday, although there was no official confirmation of such a visit.

The Pope called for a cessation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam Friday and offered his services as mediator.

Johnson arose before dawn at Korat and addressed 2,000 American airmen at the Thai base before taking off in pre-dawn darkness for Vietnam.

Standing on a wooden platform on the aircraft apron between rows of F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, Johnson told the airmen they were helping hasten "the time of peace for which we all pray."

"Your commander in chief salutes you," Johnson told the airmen. They answered with spontaneous boisterous applause.

Johnson delivered the same speech a group of 200 pilots Friday night after arriving at Korat at the base officers club.

Thousands of enlisted men swarmed around the presidential jet when it landed at Korat, and Johnson plunged into the crowd of troops waiting to see him, shaking hands Texas style.

Ahhh! A Foine Lad Named Jack Dempsey KOs Intoximeter

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — What a merry and mighty day it was for police reporter Jack Dempsey. He took on the new police "in-toximeter" in a test brawl and scored a clean knock-out.

Our hero, ever ready to help science, agreed to have a few drinks to check the $595 photo-electric device used to determine whether a suspect has had one or more too many.

The opening round of the nine-hour bout was cautious. Dempsey ingested two glasses of beer at a nearby bar. He brought along a can of beer in case he had to wait a bit—and sure enough he did.

But when the States-Item reporter wheezed into the machine, it said he hadn't had a drink in weeks.

Back to the bar. Five strong whiskey highballs. Wheeze. The machine still registered zero. Back to the bar. Eight highballs. Wheeze. Still stone sober, said the machine.

Testing officer Aloysius Habighorst sought out an inmate of the drunk tank whose breath could scale paint at six paces. He agreed to give it a try. A meter reading of 15 indicates intoxication. The machine gasped and rang up a swinging 3.0 Habighorst beamed.

"You're just not drunk yet," he told Dempsey "Go out and have a few more drinks."

Well, sir, several hours and 11 drinks later, Dempsey navigated carefully back to the testing room and gave the machine a good wheeze.

Zero.

Habighorst sadly packed the machine for shipment back to the factory. Dempsey was poured into a taxi and sent home. A police spokesman said newsmen are no longer considered good subjects for such equipment tests.

ATTACKED Crowd Runs Nazis From Premiere

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An Angry crowd Friday chased seven pickets in Nazi uniforms away from the premier of a movie about marriage between a Negro boy and a white girl.

Los Angeles police sent six patrol cars to the Village Theater in Westwood, near UCLA, where the disturbance took place.

POLICE said one of the pickets was arrested for disturbing the peace.

The pickets wearing brown uniforms appeared at the showing of the film "Look Who's Coming to Dinner," starring Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn and Sidney Poitier.

Theater manager Frank Ramsey said one of the pickets carried a sign reading "black and white don't mix." Others had signs with anti-Jewish slogans, Ramsey added.

He said a crowd eventually numbering about 200 gathered around the Nazis and began hurling insults at them.

"FINALLY somebody started swinging at them. It looked like about 30 people were trying to fight them and the rest were milling around," Ramsey said. "The Nazis took off running with the crowd at their heels."

"The crowd caught one of them in an alley. I hear he got quite a beating," the theater manager added.

Ramsey said he saw no Negroes in the crowd.

Segundo Oil Fire Finally Cools Down

The great El Segundo oil fire cooled down as it entered its fifth day today, after baffling firefighters and launching volcano-like fireballs into the smoke-filled sky.

City and county firefighters withdrew Friday and left Standard Oil Co. engine units to stand guard at the burning million-barrel reservoir.

But by Friday night the blaze cooled down to a "barbecue-like" fire, company officials said.

They estimated more than half the oil in the seven-acre, ground-level sump had been pumped out, but said the blaze would continue to burn "for a couple of days."

The spectacular fire was touched off Tuesday when lightning struck a wooden cover over the lake of oil. The blaze sent up black billows of smoke that carried as far inland as San Bernardino County.

Early Friday, the tremendous heat from the fire was reducing the tar-like oil to coke, which formed a crust over portions of the reservoir.

Superheated fumes trapped beneath the lava-like crust created explosions that blasted great chunks of flaming coke high into the sky, firemen said.

But, at 7 a.m., county firemen pulled out most of their units because there was little hope the fire could be extinguished. Remaining county and city units were relieved later.

Standard Oil officials said the oil reservoir was far enough away from other structures that there was no danger of the fire spreading.

Meanwhile, oilworkers were continuing the tricky job of pumping the hot oil from beneath the flaming surface scale of coke.

They said the pumping had to be done slowly, allowing the superheated oil to cool before it came into contact with the air.

Grove Girl Badly Burned

A seven-year-old Garden Grove girl was in serious condition Friday night at the Orange County Medical Center after being burned while trying to light the family fireplace.

Richele Shock, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Shock, 23, of 12831 Lucille St., suffered first second and third degree burns over 40 per cent of her body, police said, when her pajamas caught fire.

Mrs. Shock, who extinguished the flames, was treated for burns of both her hands.

Ellsworth Bunker Sees Viet Hope

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said Friday he believes the chances of winning the war in Vietnam are better now than when he took his post here eight months ago.

At the same time he was pessimistic about peace negotiations with the Communists.

"Up until now there has been no indication that they are ready to come to negotiations," Bunker said.

I don't know of any thing in the immediate offing which indicates a change in their attitude."

BUNKER, IN AN end-of-the-year summing up, said he saw progress in the war and in other areas during 1967 and that he expected the progress to accelerate in the new year.

"What effect that may have on Hanoi, I don't know," he said. "Whether it will bring them closer to negotiations or whether they will continue to hang on, it's very difficult to say."

The ambassador, 73, who has been the chief U.S. representative here since he took over from Henry Cabot Lodge last April, answered several questions in an interview at his office.

WHEN HE LEFT, Lodge reiterated a favorite theme of his that the Vietnam war would not end in negotiations but that the fighting would just fade out.

Asked about Lodge's theory, Bunker said: "It's certainly one possibility. I wouldn't rule it out. But I think it's also a possibility that the North Vietnamese may come to the point where they are aware of the fact that they can't win the war and therefore may want to negotiate the best kind of settlement they can."

Bunker added that it was a "distinct possibility" that North Vietnam might just de-escalate the war.

DOVE AND HAWK State GOP Solons to Fly to Viet

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Two California Republican congressmen, one hawkish and the other dovish, will fly to Vietnam together next week.

Reps. Alphonzo Bell of Beverly Hills, and Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey of Woodside will leave for Saigon Thursday.

The congressmen will spend about 10 days in Vietnam and each will be making his first trip to Southeast Asia since the U.S. involvement began there.

BELL, a seven year veteran in the House, said he "generally supports President Johnson's policy in Vietnam." McCloskey elected only two weeks ago after defeating a field of candidates that included Shirley Temple Black, has said his Vietnam position is close to that of enclavist General James Gavin.

Both of the congressmen will be making the journey at their own expense, they stressed.

They said they hoped to talk to South Vietnam government leaders, commanders of the U.S. military establishment as well as troops and the South Vietnamese public.

Bell said he will return directly to Washington, while McCloskey plans to spend several days in his district before coming to Washington for the opening of the second session of the 90th Congress on Jan. 15.

State Health Director Resignation Accepted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Dr. Lester Breslow has resigned as state public health director, a Reagan administration official said Friday.

The resignation was confirmed by William P. Clark Jr., Gov. Ronald Reagan's executive secretary. Clark said Breslow had been advised he probably would not be reappointed when his present term expires because of "philosophical differences" between himself and the administration.

NO SUCCESSOR has been selected, Clark said. Someone within the department will be acting director until a permanent one is found.

DR. LESTER BRESLOW
Quits State Position

Breslow's resignation has been widely rumored in the past few weeks.

Dr. Breslow was appointed to the $26,000-a-year job by former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in 1965 after serving since 1946 within the health department ranks.

Breslow's appointment was until Jan. 1, 1968 and he thus was not one of the Brown appointees who either resigned or was replaced when the Reagan administration took office.

BRESLOW retains civil service status as head of the department's division of preventative medicine services, but it was understood that he would seek another post rather than stay in the health department.

Breslow is 52 and president-elect of the American Public Health Association. He had been an adviser to Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson at White House conferences on health care.

BRESLOW has earned a wide reputation for his work in the detection of cancer. He recently announced results of a study which showed that Los Angeles-type smog was not a cause of lung cancer.

He also is known for research in fields of preventing maternal, child and occupational diseases.

Clark said Breslow had submitted his resignation orally to Spencer Williams, Health and Welfare Agency administrator, and that it had been accepted.

A written resignation is on its way to Gov. Reagan, Clark said.

Vote Halts 2 Insurance Firms' Union

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California-Western States Life Insurance Co. stockholders rejected affiliation with the American General Insurance Co. by a vote of some 2.5 million to 2.3 million shares, the company announced Friday.

Announcement of the vote came as an anticlimax to the lengthy battle for joining the Houston, Tex., firm. American General officials withdrew from the tentative agreement Wednesday, saying they realized that the vote was running against them.

THE VOTING began Tuesday during a dramatic stockholders meeting, with a majority of the audience applauding and cheering the anti-merger forces.

Neither side received a majority of the votes in the election results announced by an independent team of inspectors.

Ten of Cal-Western's directors voted earlier this year for the merger. They said that if the firm became part of the Texas holding company, the value of Cal-Western shares and dividends would increase.

BUT FOUR directors voted against the affiliation and campaigned vigorously against it. They wanted to keep sole control of the firm in Sacramento, where many of the shareholders live.

President Benjamin Woodson of American General said the battle was "a contest between local sentiment and investment judgment."

Food for Poor Stolen

EAST LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Burglars Friday stole 20 boxes of food and 50 new toys from the Salvation Army office here, sheriff's deputies reported. The missing items were destined for needy families as yule gifts.

Beverly Hills Vote on Vietnam Asked

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — City officials Friday received petitions from an antiwar organization requesting a vote on the question of withdrawal from Vietnam in the April municipal election.

City Clerk Richard Platt said verification of the signatures will get under way next week, and a report will be made to the City Council Jan. 9.

If the petitions carry the signatures of 10 per cent of Beverly Hills' 18,000 registered voters, they will make the city the first in Southern California to poll voters on the Vietnam war at a municipal election.

The City of Claremont, home of the Claremont-Mudd College complex in eastern Los Angeles County, also is the scene of a drive for a municipal election vote on American withdrawal from Vietnam. Election petitions there are not expected to be ready until after the first of the year.

"We've already got more than enough signatures to get this on the ballot," said Stephen Kandn, a television writer, who is chairman of Concerned Voters of Beverly Hills. "When the election comes, we expect to win."

In a recent election in San Francisco, a ballot measure urging immediate American withdrawal from Vietnam was turned down decisively by voters.

1967 Employment, Factory Wages Set State Records

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nonfarm employment and factory workers' earnings set records in California in 1967, the Department of Industrial Relations reported Friday.

Despite some slowing in the economy earlier this year, the department said in a year-end review, nonfarm employment, construction employment and the factory work week all were "exhibiting more vitality" in the closing months.

More than 6 1-3 million Californians were employed in nonagricultural activities in 1967. This represented an addition of more than 200,000 wage and salary workers, or an employment growth of 3 1/2 per cent, over 1966.

Average earnings of production workers in manufacturing activities in 1967, the report said, were higher than ever before at $3.28 an

113,000 Get Reagan 'Bonus'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan thanked the state's 113,000 employees Friday for their support and gave them a holiday bonus — an extra half day off.

In a Christmas message, Reagan recommended that state agency and department chiefs give half their employees "informal time off" this afternoon and the other half, next Friday afternoon off.

"The support given by the employees of the state to the program and policies of this administration is deeply appreciated," Reagan said. "As we have attempted to combine economy and efficiency with creativity, you have worked long and hard and made sacrifices."

Reagan's office said an earlier directive issued by the office of Health and Welfare Administrator Spencer Williams that no extra time off be granted employees apparently was sent out in the midst of "confusion during a very busy period."

The Williams order was nullified by Reagan's, the office said.

Reagan also sent "warm Christmas greetings to the people of California" and expressed hope U.S. servicemen in Vietnam will be reunited with their families before next Christmas.

Reagan said he hoped "that by next year at this time, our gallant fighting men and women overseas will be able to reunite with families and loved ones in the knowledge that freedom has been preserved and peace achieved."

Forecast for Sunday

ARIES (March 21-April 19): First time in understanding, you set, mate, partner. Then figure out how you can make yourself more comfortable at home. Key to success today is clarity.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Quarter moon, leading recent necessity of adhering to routine. If holiday spirit comes you to your carolers could prove costly. There is stress, strain. Key is balance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You may have romantic intentions while one to you is concerned with practical matters. This could pose a dilemma. Stick to principles. Be ultra-rational.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Home, family, situation, romance. You are going to have to act on faith. Early in the morning as though you stand alone. But if determined, you gain support late in day.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 22): Not wise to embark upon journey as result of family rift. Means base actions on logic, not on anger or impulse. Use your intuition. Correct answer comes from within.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): May be a difficult time of year, but remember, you are a realist. No need to be moody. Real friends will appreciate sincerity, not extravagance. Act accordingly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are sensitive to moods of others. Holiday season could create minor incident with family member. Face yourself. Gratitude and satisfaction is due. Give yourself a chance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If in past you contributed to violence of individual, you are due for a most pleasant surprise. Don't wander too far. Be moderate. Holiday celebration is concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Crack invitation, gift lists. Some you may have overlooked. Consideration. Ties with friends, special groups are emphasized. Be diplomatic at special social affair tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): May be conflict between duties and desires. You may be over-burdened with what calls you away from home. Sense of balance between you to family, social and business obligations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Keep plans simple. You may not find it as favorable for dealing with people at a distance. Key is to focus, to concentrate. If you scatter efforts, results in confusion.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Best to do to keep a secret. Means be discreet. Don't reveal all you know. Someone may be testing you. Could involve financial transaction. Holiday mood could make you look foolish. Be realistic.

TODAY'S YOUR BIRTHDAY: You've been through a period of creativity, involvement with people. Now is time to settle down to make domestic adjustments in your life. If necessary, you sometimes are too trusting.

'TO REKINDLE ANCIENT PROMISE'

LBJ Sends Yule Greetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The official Christmas card sent out by the President and Mrs. Johnson is a soft watercolor painting of the White House Blue Room, highlighted by a decorated Christmas tree.

It carries the greeting "With our wishes for a joyous Christmas and a Happy New Year." This card was sent only to about 1,500 heads of state, U.S. embassies, officials in government, Congress and members of the Supreme Court, governors and chiefs of mission in Washington.

A larger lithograph print, measuring 13 by 17½ inches, was given to members of the White House staff. It was accompanied by a scroll bearing the Johnsons' wish that "the lights which blaze on this tree and the trees throughout the nation rekindle the ancient promise of the Christmas season,

"Peace on earth, good will to men."

The 1967 print is the fourth annual White House work of Robert H. Jaessig, staff watercolor artist for the American Greetings Corp., Cleveland.

Yule Tree Saved From Tot's Grasp

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Leave it to an upholsterer to devise a way to keep the Christmas tree out of a two-year-old's reach.

Simple. Hang the tree from the ceiling.

"That was the only way we could fix it or Randy would just tear everything up," laughed Mrs. Harold R. Mitchell of suburban Mableton. Her husband, the upholsterer, hit upon the idea of suspending their son's tree from the ceiling of his room.

WELL, actually, it was David, 5, who wanted the tree in his bedroom. But since it also was Randy's room, and Randy, 2, had wanted to take the bulbs and crush them on the floor, some arrangement had to be made.

At one point in the discussion, Mitchell said: "David will have a Christmas tree even if I have to hang it from the ceiling." With that inspiration, all he required for the unique positioning of the green tree was a screw and some string. The tree in the boy's room was hung, fully decorated, from the ceiling.

COPS' ONLY PRESENT STOLEN

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Police in the suburban town of Plantation charged Army Pvt. Robert W. Hogan with petty larceny and said he swiped the only present under their Christmas tree.

According to Sgt. William Green, Hogan, 20, of Pompano Beach, came to the station Thursday with a friend who was picked up on a traffic charge. When they left, said Green, the lone package under the department's Christmas tree — an electric shoeshine kit — was missing.

A policeman who stopped Hogan and his friend after they left the station thought he recognized the present he saw in the car, and when he checked with the station, Hogan was picked up, and later released on $500 bond.

Hogan had opened the present, Green said, so the sergeant led the lineup of officers buffing up their uniform shoes.

Nativity Doll Torn and Burned

DUBLIN, Ga. (UPI) — A Christ-child doll was taken Friday from a Nativity scene and was mutilated and burned. The incident, in a comfortable residential area of this south-central Georgia City, aroused the anger of townfolk.

The doll representing the Baby Jesus was doused with gasoline and burned. The head of the doll was ripped off the body and thrown into a nearby field. Swaddling clothes which had been used to wrap the figure were stripped and run up the flagpole at a nearby grammar school.

Dublin Police Chief T. J. McMurray said his department is investigating the case and "we have several suspects in mind."

Li'l Town of Bethlehem Doesn't Even Have Inn

BETHLEHEM, Ga. (UPI) — Once again in the little town of Bethlehem there is no room at the inn.

Neither is there much room in the tiny post office where Christmas mail has stacked high throughout the Christmas season and the postal force has quadrupled. There is no room in the Bethlehem inn because there isn't an inn in this community of 350.

Here, the highlight of the year is the Christmas season, and the busiest man in town right now is the postmaster.

On the town square, smack in front of the post office, is a symbol of the city's namesake — a star measuring 15-feet across and mounted on a 50-foot high pole. Beneath this star nightly for three days preceding Christmas, the Methodist and Baptist churches stage thrice-nightly productions of the Birth of Christ. Bethlehem, large enough to be located only on certain maps, is northeast of Atlanta in Barrow County.

Normally, the flow of mail doesn't even keep Postmaster Lamar Ridgeway busy. But now, because of the name association the town bears with the first Christmas, Bethlehem is a popular place for having Christmas cards and packages postmarked.

Thus far, Ridgeway estimates 100,000 packages and cards have been postmarked here — all of them hand-cancelled because the office isn't large enough to have a cancelling machine.

CAT FINALLY OUT OF BAG AFTER WEEK

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — The Virgil Snyder family finally let the cat out of the bag.

And nobody was happier than Blackie, the Snyders' cat which got locked in a suitcase seven days ago when the family left on a holiday trip to Midland.

The cat likes to curl up in a patchwork quilt Mrs. Snyder is making, and when she put the quilt away in the suitcase, Blackie was inside the quilt.

Arriving home Friday, Blackie's loud meowing could be heard from inside the suitcase. When finally freed, Blackie "ran and jumped and stretched — mostly stretched — and drank us out of milk," reported Mrs. Snyder, who said the cat is "perfectly fine today."

WALLACE NEAR TOTAL

He'll Make Ballot

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace was near success Friday in his drive to land a third party spot on California's 1968 election ballot.

"A month ago, I didn't think he would make it," said Assistant Secretary of State H.P. Sullivan.

But now, Sullivan said, "I wouldn't bet a dime that he won't."

REPORTS compiled by Sullivan Friday showed Wallace's American Independent Party officially had registered 41,878 California voters in the state's nine largest counties.

Wallace needs 66,059 votes by Jan. 2 to win the ballot position he wants for a possible states' rights campaign for president in 1968.

An undetermined number of registrations still are being processed, Sullivan said. More will come from the smaller counties not yet checked by the secretary of state's office.

WALLACE seemed confident his solid month of campaigning, mostly in heavily populated Southern California, had paid off. But he would not make a flat statement that already he had the required number of signatures.

Of the officially counted 41,878 registrations, 26,522 came from Los Angeles County.

Meanwhile, the Peace and Freedom Party had collected only 26,041 registrations in the nine major counties in an attempt to be listed on the ballot next year. At present only the two major parties are recognized in California.

THE OFFICIAL tally won't be made until after Jan. 21, when county vote registrars and clerks must file their complete reports with the secretary of state.

Sullivan said Wallace's party had developed an efficient, well-financed organization, boosted greatly by Wallace's presence in the state.

American Independent campaign workers could say to prospective members "Here's the party and here's the candidate," Sullivan said, while the Peace and Freedom Party has had no figurehead or candidate. Additionally, the election official added "there obviously are people in sympathy with Wallace's philosophy."

STOPS EARLY TO FEED REINDEER

Santa Visits Avalon Kids

By ART VINSEL

Millions of children will hope against reality Christmas Eve for a glimpse of Santa Claus, but only those in a village 20 miles from Long Beach will actually see him.

Retired market owner Shag Park is again hiking through the chilly, hilly streets of Avalon, Catalina Island, delighting familiar faces for the 20th year.

Some of those faces now wear the lines, creases and cosmetics of adulthood, but they soften as the ritual is repeated for their own children.

"The nice thing is, I know all these kids ... I knew their mothers and fathers when they were children," says Park, of 355 Catalina Ave.

Beginning about 4:30 p.m. Park makes his rounds, jangling a 50-year-old set of sleigh bells to herald his arrival at each lighted home in Avalon.

"He goes from one hillside to the other," says his wife Blanche, who is Mrs. Santa Claus to the town's 1,600 residents.

Children react in subtle ways to the presence of an old man who is almost as important to Christmas as the Child born that day.

"Each child is different and you have to handle them differently," she added.

Some youngsters receive their presents on Christmas Eve, so he asks if they are pleased, warning others, eager for tomorrow morning, to get to bed early so he can return on his second round.

Someone always asks to see his reindeer.

"That's why I choose to visit Avalon," Santa Claus explains. "That way, they can get some rest and food at the stables here on our worldwide trip."

"These kids are really sharp," says the long-time Avalon resident, who also maintains a home in Long Beach. "They look at your eyes. I don't even wear my watch or ring. They might recognize them too."

Park's Santa Claus role started as a party joke in 1937, but quickly became a tradition. He now wears a magnificent velvet costume, padded by a special, foam rubber St. Nick belly.

One thing Avalon's resident Santa cannot do is hand out gifts. For all his joyful goodness, he is only human — he might overlook someone.

"You just can't disappoint little children," he says.

Avalon has now grown a bit, and its hills are steep, so Park gets a lift on his eight-hour visit — from mansion to tiled-roof cottage — in a tiny, open car.

It is chilly and tiring, and Park usually suffers a cold after the constant change from scores of warm livingrooms to nippy night air.

"But people don't realize," he says, fighting a case of pre-Christmas sniffles, "how much fun it is."

State Loyalty Oath Bill Urged by Hayes

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, said Friday he will seek to re-establish a state loyalty oath in the California Constitution at the January session of the legislature.

Hayes anticipated the Thursday action of the State Supreme Court in declaring the oath unconstitutional and sought, during the last legislature, to amend the oath's language to enable it to meet a constitutional test.

Hayes' bill was stymied in committee however because, he said, it was being considered at the time of a special State Senate election in San Francisco in which Assemblyman John Burton, an avowed opponent of the loyalty oath, was a candidate.

Hayes said his legislation, calculated to remove constitutional flaws from the oath, "is needed as the first line of defense against violence and rebellion" and predicted its early passage by the legislature.

Growing violence, lawlessness, rebellion and disorder in cities and on campuses, said Hayes, "point clearly to the need to prohibit persons who advocate violence and overthrow of our form of government from occupying any positions of authority in our state, county and city governments and in our public school systems."

The Assemblyman stressed that the loyalty oath is not directed at those who seek changes in our system of government through orderly means, but only against those "who support violence as a means of destruction."

"The tax-paying citizens are entitled to know, in a positive statement signed by every recipient of public funds, whether that person advocates the overthrow by violence or rebellion of the system of government from which he is receiving his pay and benefits."

The State Supreme Court, in a 6-1 decision, ruled that "persons who join an organization but do not share in its unlawful activities pose no threat" and requirement of a loyalty oath of such persons rests on the doctrine of guilt by association.

Project Families Protest Roaches

Eight families living in a North Long Beach housing project continued their campaign against cockroaches Friday when they asked Superior Court to force the Los Angeles Housing Authority to eradicate the pests.

The eight plaintiffs — all women — said the Carmelitos Housing Project has "unsanitary conditions," is infested with cockroaches and is generally "unclean."

The women charged the Los Angeles agency told them pest control is up to the individual tenants.

But they said in their complaint, the authority is under contract to the Public Housing Authority, a federal agency, to maintain the housing in "decent, safe and sanitary condition."

Copter Patrol to Grow

From Our L.A. Bureau

County Administrative officer Lindon S. Hollinger issued a report Friday recommending enlargement of the sheriff's "Sky Knight" helicopter patrol in the Lakewood area.

Hollinger's proposal, to be considered by county supervisors Tuesday, predicts that Artesia, Bellflower, Cerritos, Hawaiian Gardens and Paramount will become signatories to a renewal agreement under which Lakewood would purchase three helicopters.

The present one-year pilot project financed primarily with a federal grant ends Dec. 31.

Under the new agreements, the additional cities will share costs so the sheriff's patrol will cover a six-city area, he said.

Meat Cleaver Used to Catch Theft Suspect

A 58-year-old boxmaker told police Friday he subdued an intruder with a meat cleaver after the man tried to ransack his house.

Epetacio Nietes, 1528 Parade St., turned over to officers a 19-year-old sailor stationed aboard the USS Princeton, Frank N. Knight.

Knight was treated at St. Mary's Hospital for a head wound, then booked on suspicion of burglary.

TWO WEEKS TO LIVE

Dying Children Ask for Greeting Cards

The weather forecast networks used by the U.S. Environmental Science Services Administration are strictly business circuits, devoted to meteorological data.

However, a poignant appeal from Europe that came into the Long Beach Airport aviation forecast center has proved the exception to an ironclad rule.

Calling for postcards "on behalf of two little children with only two weeks to live," the message was initially received by weathermen at John F. Kennedy Airport, New York.

The usually staid scientists forwarded it throughout North America — the circuit to Long Beach routing through five U.S. stations and six Canadian.

"Will you help?" it asks, listing the children and their addresses:

Elaine de Teyter, Sud St. Jans Hospital, Mariastraat, Brugge, Belgium.

Bart de Bouvry, Duinparklaan 40, Oost Duninkerk, Belgium.

"They are in hospital with blood cancer and a brain infection, and have expressed wishes they would like to receive as many cards as possible from all over the world with some small, loving inscription."

Local ESSA men know nothing further of the children's tragic story.

Downey School to Put Records Underground

From Our L.A. Bureau

County supervisors are scheduled to give final approval Tuesday to an agreement under which the county would store microfilm records of the Downey Unified School District in an underground disaster facility.

The district would join a contract under which 16 cities and four school districts already use the underground vault as a refuge for their records, along with several county departments.

Beardless Santa at Work in Huntington Beach Home

By BARBARA KNESES

He says his name is Rodney Sroka of Huntington Beach, and he's a telephone cable splicer by occupation, but there are many needy youngsters who would never believe him.

To them, he's Santa Claus, even without the white whiskers and red suit.

Sroka brushes aside any acclaim with a casual—"Oh, I just like to make toys."

And make them he does, right from scratch.

While visions of witches and goblins are still dancing through youngster's heads, he is knee-deep in designs for ray guns, horse sticks, puppets with moveable arms and legs and pull-toy penguins.

On a six-day — sometimes seven-day — work schedule at the phone company, Sroka doesn't have many extra hours for toy-making, but somehow he manages to whip together about 300 toys each Christmas for underprivileged children.

His garage, which he has transformed into a workshop, is as cluttered as Santa's the day before Christmas.

Sroka looked up from a colorful penguin he was working on to talk about his Christmas project which started more than 20 years ago.

"I was on convoy duty," he said, "and our ship used to visit some of the bombed out seaports in Europe. I used to make toys from tree limbs for the kids."

The burly craftsman still utilizes good-sized scraps of lumber from any place he can get them. Now, however, the toys go to "little groups that don't get anything."

Most of Sroka's creations are distributed through the Knights of Columbus at Blessed Sacrament Church. Every year his wife, Muriel, gets into the picture too. She makes stocking dolls and little cloth animals to be included with her husband's contribution.

Sroka pulled out a duck. "This was a new toy last year," he said, "you try to catch the loop on the duck's beak," he tried himself, and laughed.

"I'm out of practice," he said when he missed. He stopped talking for a minute.

"I just like to make toys," he said again. Why not sell them?

"No," he answered quickly, "if I did it for money, it wouldn't be the same. Besides telephone splicing is my job and toymaking my hobby. If I commercialized it, I'd just have to find a new hobby."

With that he went back to his hobby.

Two Motorists Die, Two Others Escape

Two motorists died Friday — one from injuries suffered the night before — but two others miraculously escaped death in a spectacular plunge from the exit ramp of the Long Beach Freeway.

Dead, as the 3-day Christmas holiday began, were:

—Max Ferguson, 72, of 6601 Via de Anzar, San Pedro.

—John James Burns, 31, of 702 Spurgeon St., Fountain Valley.

Ferguson succumbed to injuries suffered in a head-on crash between the car he was driving and one driven by Redell S. Busby, 45, of 4419 Snowden Ave., Lakewood.

Busby and Ferguson's wife, Mary, 70, were killed instantly in the crash Thursday night on Sepulveda Boulevard west of the Terminal Island Freeway.

Burns was dead on arrival at Huntington Beach Intercommunity Hospital following a 5:36 p.m. collision with a car driven by George Trussell, 37, of 11687 Azalea St., Fountain Valley. Trussell was reported in good condition.

CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY Patrol officers said they are seeking Charles Harold Sperry, 25, of 500 Orange Ave., to obtain a statement regarding an accident at 3:50 p.m. near Sixth Street exit of the Long Beach Freeway.

CHP Officer Howard Whitmore said witnesses reported Sperry's vehicle bounced off the freeway's guard rail three times, and sideswiped a car driven by Bernard Loomis Jr., of 3100 E. Seventh St.

The Loomis car tore out 20 feet of guard rail before plunging off the freeway and crashing — nose first — onto Golden Avenue, 20 feet below. The sedan toppled onto one side, trapping the unconscious driver.

Ambulances took Sperry and Loomis to St. Mary's Hospital, where Loomis was admitted with head and face injuries.

Sperry was treated for an injured leg, then signed his own release, officers said.

Patrolman Whitmore said CHP investigators arrived at the hospital too late to question Sperry, and a baby-sitter at his home told them he had "gone to the doctor."

L.B. Flies Toys, Food to Indians

By HERB SHANNON

Two tons of food, clothing and medical supplies, urgently needed by the snowbound Indians of northern Arizona, were airlifted from Long Beach late Friday to Sedona Oak Creek Canyon Airport, 75 miles south of Flagstaff.

Also included were 20 cartons of Christmas toys for the children of the nearby Sedona Indian Christian Mission school. The toys were donated by Charles G. Davis, 4229 Stanbridge Ave., with assistance by women of the Parkcrest Christian Church of Long Beach.

Davis' contribution triggered the airlift, which snow-balled Friday morning after appeals were broadcast by radio stations KNAC in Long Beach and KNX in Los Angeles. Supplies, including 800 pounds of clothing from a thrift shop operated by the Jewish War Veterans in Los Angeles, flooded the Independent, Press-Telegram, and other collection points.

The materials were crammed into an executive model DC3 operated by Flight Test Research, 2680 E. Wardlow Rd., overflowing the cargo compartment into the aisles and seating accommodations in the passenger cabin.

Russ O'Quinn, president of the firm, and Jim Lucey, chief of testing, piloted the aircraft to the tiny mountain-top airport in Arizona, volunteering their services as well as use of the aircraft.

The materials were the first outside help received in the isolated Arizona community since early winter storms began depositing four feet of snow more than a week ago, according to Mrs. Paul Magnuson, a representative of the Indian mission school.

"We can't thank the people of Long Beach enough for this," Mrs. Magnuson said. "Christmas wouldn't be Christmas for our school children without their help."

"We'll distribute these things at the earliest possible time," she said.

Meanwhile, another 22 tons of toys, clothes and varied canned goods collected and crated for the Navajo Indians at Flagstaff by the Torrance YMCA remains in a warehouse for lack of ground transportation.

Plans to deliver the goods from the Union Carbide Warehouse, 2300 Del Amo Blvd, in a YMCA-sponsored truck caravan were thwarted by the massive snowstorm.

Tax selling has centered on the airlines, color TV, chemicals, papers and steels in particular. Most of the component issues look lower over the near term. Few are expected to stage more than a technical rebound without broad base on consolidation. Allowing for some short-term sluggishness the stronger issues are expected to make further gains. Among these stocks, with their near-term counts, are National Cash Register (150-155), Purex (3-40), Collins & Aikman (33-35), Leaseway Transportation (30-31), Lear Siegler (45-47).

of business and profits. Yet the familiar market wheel horses did very little, as shown by the softness in the stock averages.

AT BOAT SHOW

Buddy Ebsen, star of television's "Beverly Hills-90210," will appear in his life role of a yachtsman and builder at the International Boat Show starting Thursday in Long Beach Arena. He'll reveal design details of his new catamaran, one of hundreds of 1968 models to be displayed at show.

S. F. Ballet Performs 'Nutcracker'

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

One of the ways the San Francisco Ballet is celebrating its 75th anniversary this season is by mounting a new production of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" — its third since 1944.

Happily for southern California, which, in case you haven't heard, does not have its own resident ballet, the San Franciscans are showing this new source of pride in Shrine Auditorium five times this week (ending today and tonight).

"Happily" is the right word, too, for there is no other way to respond to this colorful, sensibly cut, joyously visual presentation.

Which does not mean every aspect of the production is an unqualified success — far from it. But the total impression, for the ears as well as the eyes, is one of integrated artistic delight. General director-choreographer Lew Christensen gets credit for the unified point of view, which results in an appealingly uncomplicated unfolding of plot, and as little confusion as possible. Sometimes, as in his "Waltz of the Flowers," directness deteriorates into dullness, but perhaps that is preferable to busyness; some days we think so.

Robert O'Hearn, who designed the much admired "Frau ohne Schatten" at the Met last season, has contributed very pretty, and very conventional, sets and costumes for this production. Literalness (and perhaps a low budget?) seems to have dictated his imaginative limits here.

Leading the good pickup orchestra was Gerhard Samuel, the exciting young conductor of the greatly transformed Oakland Symphony, Thursday, after only a single rehearsal, there were rough spots in the pit (a sloppy Overture; a blundered "Sugar Plum Fairy" moments when the right side fell behind the left) as well as beautiful ones. Nonetheless, the inherent strengths of both band and baton were evident.

As for lack of strength in the dance ensemble, that is another matter. San Francisco's leadership in building and maintaining a ballet company over seven decades is certainly admirable. At this moment, however, the level of dancing in that company remains uneven.

Most memorable before Act II are Virginia Johnson and John McFall as the King and Queen of Snow. Then the Spanish Dance (why do those costumes seem Neapolitan?); Diana Davis and Lazar Dano in the Arab Dance; McFall and Alan Bergman in the whimsically costumed Tre-

Guests stars Melissa Hayden and Jacques D'Amboise, who are commuting between here and the New York City Ballet's "Nutcracker" this month, lit up Act II with their pas de deux, of course. It was stunning and brilliant, and not only in their execution. You see, it happens to be the same "Grand Pas de Deux" first seen in New York in 1954; it happens to be Balanchine's. That fact, however, is oddly missing from both the handout program and the (overpriced) souvenir book of the current visit. Why?

4 Inmates Die in Philly Jails

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For the fourth straight day, a man has been found dead in a jail cell in Philadelphia.

The latest to die was William Duffy, 63, of Philadelphia, found lifeless in his cell at a district police station Thursday. He had been arrested for drinking.

On Monday night a 30-year-old Philadelphia man hanged himself in a cell at a district police station. Tuesday, a 16-year-old hanged himself in the House of Correction. Wednesday, a West Philadelphia man was found collapsed on the floor of the auditorium of the Police Detention Center after a fight by inmates.

cluded in this collection of some of the finest and most perceptive comment on the movies ever written. Because he considered the film a serious art form, he made his writings on that subject not ephemeral, but an important literary genre of lasting interest. His famous essay, "Comedy's Greatest Era," is to be found here. Volume II contains Agee's scenarios for "The African Queen," "The Night of the Hunter," "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky" (from "Face to Face") and the experimental, unproduced "Noa Noa," based on Gauguin's life.

BOOK REVIEWS

A New Tolstoy Biography; Dance, Cinema, Folksongs

TOLSTOY. By Henri Troyat. Doubleday, $7.95.

(Grosset and Dunlap), $14.95.

This is a monumental biography, as complete a portrait of the Russian giant as is likely to be painted between the covers of any book. M. Troyat has written his own "War and Peace," a vivid description of the battle that raged within Tolstoy between the saint and the libertine. No writer in human history was ever compounded of such contradictions as Tolstoy, and M. Troyat lends new fascination to the Tolstoyan enigma.

From primitive rites, from the dances of the Hebrews and Greeks of old, from the dance manias of the middle ages and the churchyard "Dances of Death" to the latest developments in modern ballet, Walter Sorell, who teaches the history of the dance and theater at Columbia, has written an engrossing book. The Oriental dances — those of India, Indonesia, Japan and China — are understandingly interpreted. The greats of the modern ballet — Diaghilev, Fokine, Nijinsky, Pavlova, Stravinsky, among others — are given new insight. There are 250 illustrations, 18 of them in color.

THE RISING TIDE. By Richard F. Pourde. Union Tribune Publishing Company, San Diego, $9.50.

Wars. This sixth volume in the history of the San Diego region is the liveliest of all, for it examines the great migrations by automobile and the developments that made California the nation's foremost state. There are some 200 rare illustrations, 19 in full color.

SPLENDORS OF MOSCOW AND ITS SURROUNDINGS. Text by Vladimir Chernov and Marcel Girard. Photographs by Gerard Bettin. World, $29.95.

A tour of the most resplendent and the loveliest sights and objects of what is certainly Europe's most exotic capital. The bearded and long-gowned ancestors of today's Muscovites walk through these pages. Moscow is an 800-year-old city of concentric cities; the historic Chinese Wall (built against the Tartars); the Kremlin, that center of intrigue and mystery; the palaces of the boyars; the centuries-old monasteries, the bridges, the squares and the marketplaces of this fascinating city are all shown in the hundreds of illustrations — 125 in four colors, 8 in two colors, 133 in monochrome.

AGEE ON FILM. By James Agee. Grosset and Dunlap. Two volumes, $7.50 each.

All the film criticism of James Agee that appeared in The Nation, and some of his time reviews, are in-

The Shepherds and the Angels

(From "Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version, published by the American Bible Society. Copyright, 1966.)

8 There were some shepherds in that part of the country who were spending the night in the fields, taking care of their flocks. 9 An angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone over them. They were terribly afraid, 10 but the angel said to them: "Don't be afraid! For I am here with good news for you, which will bring great joy to all the people. 11 This very night in David's town your Savior was born—Christ the Lord! 12 This is what will prove it to you: you will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger."

13 Suddenly a great army of heaven's angels appeared with the angel, singing praises to God:

14 "Glory to God in the highest heaven!

And peace on earth to men with whom he is pleased!"

15 When the angels went away from them back into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, that the Lord has told us." 16 So they hurried off and found Mary and Joseph, and saw the baby lying in the manger.

Luke 2:8-16

Varied Services Greet Christmas

INSPIRATIONAL

Colorful candlelight services, festive musical programs and traditional Midnight Masses are among the ways churches in Long Beach and adjacent communities will celebrate the birth of the Savior on Christmas Eve.

Both at the regularly scheduled Sunday morning worship, marking the end of the Advent season, and at the special Christmas Eve observances, thoughts of many will once again be with those Americans in Vietnam who are worshipping in less comfortable and secure surroundings. Christmas Day services are also scheduled by some churches on Monday morning.

Here are some of the observances, as received from the churches:

At Immanuel Lutheran 345 Carson St., Sunday morning worshippers at 10 a.m. will be invited to hear and view a nativity presentation entitled "The Stable at Bethlehem," with narration, stage setting and music by the Senior Choir and John Nosches, choir master. Youngsters from the school classes will participate. Christmas Eve services will be at 11 p.m., and a family Christmas Day service is set for 10 a.m. A tree trimmed with "Christmas" enhances the chancel.

The Christmas cantata "The Visitation of God," with an eight-piece orchestra, will be presented Sunday, 10 a.m. in Geneva Presbyterian, Third and Molino, following a children's program at 9 a.m.

COLLEGE AGE young people will highlight the 7 p.m. service at Bethany Baptist, 2244 Clark Ave., presenting "A Living Christmas," expressing what Christmas means to the college student today. The service will be interwoven with music. Among the leading participants will be Samuel Schutz, doctoral candidate in psychology at UCLA.

An indoor candlelight service, with music by choir and congregation, is set for 7 p.m. at El Dorado Park Community, 3655 Norwalk Blvd., with drive-in space available for those who wish to visit in their cars and listen.

A "Festival of Choirs" with no less than seven singing groups will be heard at Lakewood First Baptist, 5336 Arbor Road, at 7 p.m. under the direction of new minister of music John C. Hallett.

Los Altos Methodist at 5950 Willow St. will serve up a Christmas Eve triple feature, with the Cherub, Carol and Chancel Choirs highlighted at 5 p.m. services, the Chapel and Junior High choirs at 7 p.m. services, and the Sanctuary Choir at the 11 p.m. services, which will hear Bishop Everett Palmer, resident Methodist bishop of the Seattle area.

St. Pancratius Catholic Church of 5700 Downey Ave. in Lakewood is among those inviting the community to Midnight Mass climaxed a day in which Masses will be celebrated 15 minutes after the hour every hour starting at 6:15 a.m. through 12:15 p.m. Confession will be heard

Berkeley Lectures

A series of lectures and discussions aimed at leading Christian congregations to experience a greater depth of community and a heightened sense of joy will be held at Berkeley Baptist Divinity School January 16-18.

today from 10 a.m. to noon, 3-5 p.m., and 7:30-9 p.m.

FIVE SPECIAL services are slated at First Lutheran, Atlantic and Ninth. Primary school children will meet Sunday at 10 a.m., junior and intermediate at 7:30 p.m., and the traditional Christmas Eve service at 11 p.m. will feature the combined Youth and Senior choirs. Final Christmas services will be on Christmas Day, Monday, at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Westminster Brethren, 14614 Magnolia Ave., will hold its Candlelight Concert Sunday at 5 p.m., with the Chancel Choir selecting songs which depict the Christmas Eve family carol service at 7:30 p.m. in Gloria Dei Lutheran, 5872 Naples Plaza, will include four numbers by the Senior Choir, solos by Dolores Burt and Larry Laraway, and a meditation by Pastor Goodwin T. Olson, "The Inward Wonder."

Three Candlelight Services, at 7, 9 and 11 p.m., are scheduled for Garden Grove Community, 12141 Lewis St., with all seven choirs participating in each service.

First Methodist at Fifth and Pacific will hold its traditional 4 p.m. service with carols and anthems by the Sanctuary and Layfield Bell choirs, and oh yes, the congregation.

Trinity Lutheran, at Eighth and Linden, presents its musical service at 11 p.m. Christmas Eve, and a 10 a.m. Christmas Day worship.

Candlelight communion service entitled "Golden Moment of the Year" is set at 7 p.m. by Grace Methodist, Third and Junipero. Portions of The Messiah by Handel will be heard at the Sunday morning hours.

A SPECIAL service, with solos, duets, choir numbers, organ and instrumental music will be presented at the 11 p.m. hour by Our Saviour's Lutheran, 370 Junipero Ave. The Christmas Day festive worship service at 10 a.m. will feature a sermon and music by two choirs.

Covenant Presbyterian's traditional carol service will begin 11 p.m. in the Third and Atlantic sanctuary.

A midnight communion service starting at 11:30 in Messiah Lutheran, 10711 Paramount Blvd., Downey, will be led by the young people, with dialogue readings.

Candlelight service with the Chancel Choir is set for 11 p.m. at Mount Olivet Lutheran, Bonfair at South, Lakewood, with 10 a.m. Christmas Day service featuring the Youth and Melody choirs in Christmas matins.

University Lutheran at 1429 Clark Ave., features the Cathedral Choir at its traditional 11 p.m. worship, and the Chancel and Cherub choirs at 10 a.m. Christmas Day.

First Baptist, at 10th and Pine, will follow a 6:45 p.m. organ concert by Samuel Posthuma with a brass trio, vocal and violin duet, and the youth choir in a varied program based on "Follow the Star"—Matthew 2:2.

The Peterson cantata "Love Transcending" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in Lime Avenue Southern Baptist, 850 Lime Ave. Earlier, at 6 p.m., the young people will put on a Christmas pageant, "Unto Us."

Cardinal Meyer Institute Set

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Archbishop William E. Cousins announced Friday the establishment of an educational institute to provide clergymen with continuing training in pastoral and secular skills.

The institute, to be named for the late Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago, will be housed in the Milwaukee suburb of St. Francis. Initially, it will serve Roman Catholic priests of the area, Archbishop Cousins said, but will be expanded to serve North American clergymen of all faiths.

THE POWER OF FAITH

One Who Serves on Christmas

Marine Corps Sgt. John Barry, like many others in the military services, has worked Christmas Eve in a foreign land. During his year in Vietnam—where he received two purple hearts—John was on duty Christmas Eve, 1965.

He went to a Mass conducted by Cardinal Spellman, then back to duty guarding Da Nang air base. It was the cease-fire truce at holiday time, but he said, "We expected if we were going to be hit it would be then." John spent the night at a post about one mile and a half outside the perimeter of the air base. It was a long, lonely night but a quiet one, with time to think about his wife and three children. "Christmas is a bad time to be there because you think of home and what you did the year before," he said.

"But with the discipline of a professional," he continued, "Morale was very high. Our families sent creches, artificial Christmas trees, gifts and food. Christmas day we sang carols to the music of a guitar and harmonica and had a Santa Claus riding on a tank." Sgt. Barry said that Christmas he felt the deep spiritual meaning of the birth of Jesus which is often forgotten at home. It undoubtedly will continue to mean more to him and to others who have been at war at Christmastime.

COLLEGE AGE YOUTH OF FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH MAKE CHRISTMAS MEANINGFUL

Young men and women of College-Career Chorale of First Christian Church symbolize spirit of Christmas in more ways than one as they rehearse for the Holy Night in choir loft of historic downtown church at Fifth and Locust. Choir, which includes collegians, Navy men and engineers among its members, travels often for "Project Challenge," a youth evangelistic mission, and will bring Christmas Eve vesper services at Armed Services YMCA Sunday, 7 p.m. At upper left is Herb Read, college career minister. Upper right is Roger Koerner, minister of music, and director of the choir.

CONFIDENT LIVING

Two Christmas Eves

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

It was Christmas Eve some years ago. As twilight faded into night, gaily colored lights appeared inside and outside homes along the quiet Brooklyn street.

Emerging into the clear cold air of that holy, star-studded night—after enjoying dinner with friends—I noticed a strange fact about the house across the street. Two wreaths were on the door, one a Christmas wreath, and alongside it, of all things, a funeral wreath. Startled, I asked who lived in that home. My friends only knew them as a nice family with three small children, one of whom had died that morning.

I walked up and down the street debating whether to intrude. After all, I was a pastor and this was the night of celebration of the birth of Christ Who loved everyone. Whether they were of the Protestant faith I did not know but, surely, that was not important. A little child was dead and a family brokenhearted. It was a human situation and love was needed.

I RANG the door bell and a pleasant young man appeared. When I told him who I was he seemed warmly pleased. We sat in the living room where two small children played beside a Christmas tree, its lights reflected in their bright and dancing eyes. "I was just about to read them the old poem 'Twas The Night Before Christmas,'" he explained. Then he added, "My wife is in the room upstairs with our other child. Would you please go up and talk to her? She needs a bit of help." Tears stood in his eyes.

Upstairs I found a beautiful young mother sitting by the still form of a little girl. I sat with her and let her talk. No bitterness, no doubts, no whys. She spoke only of love and gratitude to God for letting them have the child for three wonderful years. "She is now with Jesus," the mother concluded simply. And I thought of that other Baby born so long ago Who in a hood spoke of the heavenly mansions in the Father's house beyond this life.

The memory of those two unforgettable parents comes to mind every Christmas. Father downstairs making a happy Christmas for two excited little ones; mother upstairs keeping the long last watch. Forty years have gone by and there has never been a Christmas that a loving card had not come from that family with whom I shared a Christmas Eve long ago.

Christmas, you see, is not all lights and music and eating and celebrating. It is love and faith and human greatness—it is solidly based on a Child who came to wipe away human tears and make people strong and good.

ANOTHER Christmas Eve I remember was in Syracuse, N.Y., over 35 years ago. People of the church were distributing big, bulging love-motivated Christmas baskets to poor families in the neighborhood. All but one basket had been delivered and I offered to take the last one. It led me into a strange adventure.

The home proved to be little more than a shack at the rear of some rundown tenements. An obviously overworked young wife admitted me. I could see she had been scrubbing the family clothes in a steaming old-fashioned washtub. On a shabby couch sprawled the young husband, obviously deep in his cups. The wife followed my glance. "He is a wonderful man," she spoke defensively. "If it wasn't for that one weakness he would go places. And he will... he will." Her voice ended in a choke.

On the wall, surprisingly, were two excellent paintings which appeared quite out of place in the surroundings. They pictured a dignified and obviously outstanding couple. "They were his parents," she explained, "who were good New England people. He wouldn't part with those pictures even if we starved. I guess they represent his hold on life, on hope maybe."

I GAVE the basket to the young wife, wished her a Merry Christmas, and determined to help that family in a more creative way than just a Christmas basket. Next day, Christmas, I dropped in to see these people again and had a pleasant visit. The following Sunday they showed up at church and kept on coming every week. The young husband was unconsciously reaching for a better life and he found it. I stopped by the day they moved into a simple but nice home. I must admit I choked up a bit when I saw Fred carrying those two portraits

Goodwill Items to Church Service

Long Beach's Wightman Memorial Goodwill Industries, which formerly gave prosthetic devices to CARE, now turns over prostheses, hospital supplies and medical items to Church World Service, since CARE closed out its program.

Artificial limbs that have no re-use in this country are quickly put to use in a number of other countries, advises Theobald Speicher, community relations director. "We're happy to serve as a collection medium to pass these things on to those that can make use of them," he said.

into the new house.

It was July when they made this move, but it did not seem at all incongruous when Fred said happily, "Merry Christmas! Why not? It was on Christmas that life began to be merry for this nice family.

Ask Peace Prayers on Christmas Eve

United Press International
Something new will be added this year to the traditional Christmas Eve services of many Protestant churches.

Worshippers will leave the church building, bearing lighted candles, and join in an outdoor prayer for peace in Vietnam. Individuals who don't attend a midnight church service are asked to step outside their homes at 11:55 p.m. on Christmas Eve with a lighted candle, as a symbol of their participation in the national prayer for peace.

The observance is being promoted by the National Council of Churches as a way to "bring home to all, at the joyful time of Christmas, the dreadful reality of a world still at war, in the hope that the prayer for peace on earth may be a fervent and realistic one."

HANUKKAH'S VICTORY--AND A REMINDER

Focus on the denial of religious freedom to the Jews of the Soviet Union will be an added feature of the Hanukkah observance, which begins sundown Tuesday, at Long Beach's Temple Israel.

The eight day holiday, called the "Feast of Lights," celebrates the victory of 165 B.C. when freedom fighters led by Judas Maccabee rose against and defeated the tyrant Antiochus.

The word Hanukkah, sometimes spelled Chanukah, means rededication. It refers to the fact that when the victorious Jews had cleansed the temple which the dictator had defiled, they rededicated themselves to God and to religious freedom.

The holiday is a festive one, home and family-oriented, with special little symbolic gifts to children a highlight. One candle is lit each night in the menorah, an eight-branched candelabra, until all are glowing on the final night.

At Temple Israel, the observance will take note of one area where religious freedom is yet to be won.

"We are dedicating a memorial to the six million Jews who were killed by the Nazis," explained Rabbi Woll Kaelter. "It is a special, six-branched candelabra to honor these martyrs. At the same time, we are calling attention to the plight of the Jews of Soviet Russia, who are denied the very freedoms which Hanukkah celebrates. Jews are historically foes of all totalitarianism. In Russia today, millions of Jews are cut off from their heritage, which amounts to spiritual death."

BRIEFLY...

TV Programming Hit; McIntire and New Hearts

By LES RODNEY
Television programmers' ignoring of religion during prime time is seen as a grave peril by Dr. David C. Poindexter, National Council of Churches Broadcast and Film Commission leader.

'Christmas Is Given to All People'—Blake

The following Christmas message was received from the general secretary of the World Council of Churches, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake:

Christmas is celebrated by many people besides Christians. In pre-Christian times the day was observed as the festival of lights—the victory of light over darkness.

What began as an expression of hope that the "deadly dark of winter" had passed was transformed by the Early Church into a feast of awareness that God had sent his penetrating light into the muddled affairs of men—through the person of Jesus Christ.

This year the turn of the season will give slight comfort to those caught in a web of poverty and misery. But they should derive comfort from the knowledge that God chose to visit His creation as one of us.

Celebrating Christmas is then no mere momentary escape from the wars of man, but a joyful proclamation of an open future. This is God's promise to all who accept and follow Christ in his peace-making ministry between man and God, and between one man and another.

Thus Christmas is not limited to a privileged few but is given to all people, for God's gifts are not restricted and His commands come to all. Therefore, we have abundant reason to wish each other a joyful Christmas!

ist family monthly, he says there are practically no indications from TV that churches are involved in any of the exciting or significant interests of America.

The prime-time blank is "frightening," he says, because it accents TV's "virtual silence concerning the true nature of the mission and message of Christ's Church."

Church leaders had better do something about this state of affairs, Poindexter says. "If television does indeed have the powerful molding and conditioning effect on us which is claimed by social sciences," he wonders how the TV religious silence will affect a growing generation, fed nightly on idiot pap and violence, except for some good old movies and an occasional special programs of merit.

"If the church, by and large, is overlooked by television programmers," he challenges, "will not this be increasingly true also for the masses whose minds are molded by television?"

FUNDAMENTALIST Rev. Carl McIntire, (whose name has been in print in quite another connection this week) has in interesting and reasoned fashion assured his followers that "no theological problems or biblical prohibitions are involved" in heart transplant operations.

It seems some fundamentalists, taking literally Bible passages which use "heart" as a metaphor for man's innermost spiritual being, had been bothered by news of heart transplant operations, including an unsuccessful one which involved McIntire's own grandson.

Dr. McIntire answered that a human soul "is not attached to the heart any more than to any other organ. The many references in the Bible to believing 'in' the heart" that God raised Christ from the dead do not mean the fleshy heart, but in the depths of a person's spiritual being. An engrafted heart to preserve life is a gift of God by means of scientific achievement which His providence and power have ordained... The fundamental Christian glorifies in all modern scientific advances which are unfolding the design and wisdom of the Creator."

In this, as perhaps in not too many other theological matters, McIntire would find himself as one with the ministers of the National Council of Churches whom

Southern Baptists Surpass '67 Budget

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Southern Baptist Convention surpassed its $24.2 million basic budget by more than $200,000 with 13 days left in its fiscal year.

All income above the budget, estimated to reach $1.5 million, will be divided among home and foreign missions.

In addition to the more than $24.2 million received from the convention's 33,000 churches through the cooperative program unified budget plan, another $20 million has been given to designated causes.

Swinging London Catholic Center

LONDON (AP)—London's Roman Catholic Enquiry Center, after 14 years of angling for Protestants, has changed its tactics to aim for the millions in swinging Britain who profess no religion at all.

It still uses mass advertising techniques to put across its message. And the message is fundamentally the same. But Biblical texts and Gothic lettering are strictly out. Today's message is in the language of today.

Catholic Enquiry Center advertisements, shining amidst sex and violence from pages in the popular newspapers, used to show a priest holding aloft a chalice. Readers were asked if they knew what happened at a Catholic Mass.

Now instead the advertisement is topped with a single word in heavy type. The word is love.

"THE STORY of Christ is a love story," the hippies and flower children are told. "And Christianity is the religion of love. We all want to love and to be loved, to understand and to be understood."

As in the old advertisements, discretion is assured. The free booklets will be sent at regular intervals "in a plain sealed (Continued Page B-7, Col. 1)

The message invites those who want to bring happiness and purpose into their lives to write for booklets which tell clearly and frankly about the Catholic faith.

Only Inadequate Faith Shaken by 'Life in Lab'

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

Recent achievements by Stanford University researchers indicate that science eventually may be able to create life in the laboratory.

What will this do to faith

In God?

Some may find their belief in God shaken by artificial synthesis of living molecules. If so, their basic difficulty is a totally inadequate concept of God.

Without realizing it, perhaps, they have put their faith in what theologians call "the God of the gaps." God is the hypothesis called in to fill the gaps in man's knowledge — to explain what men otherwise find inexplicable.

This is an ancient but remarkably persistent way of thinking about God. In centuries past, before the scientific age, the gaps were very wide and the role assigned to God was correspondingly large.

But as human knowledge and control over the natural environment have grown, there has been less and less room in the educated man's view of the world for a "God of the gaps."

Since creation of life is one of the few remaining gaps, it is not surprising that some people feel their faith imperiled by discoveries pointing to the possibility that science will solve this mystery, too.

But a mature concept of God finds no threat in any advance of scientific knowledge. For it views God — in perfect fidelity to the Bible — as the creative principle at work in all operations of nature and in all human achievements.

In this view, God is not a celestial magician who pulls off certain mystifying feats (such as creation of life) which man can't quite manage.

He is the author and director of the whole show, the source of being whose creative will is no less present in a laboratory test tube than in the everyday "miracle" of ordinary conception.

Every time a sperm and ovum unite to begin formation of an embryo, human

Arab Refugees to Get Sturdier Tents Thru WCC

Three thousand Arab refugees in the Jordan valley who now have to grip tent poles to keep their flimsy shelter intact when the wind blows, will soon be housed in durable, heavy-duty tents made in Karachi, Pakistan.

The 500 tents, each large enough to give shelter to six persons, were made for the World Council of Churches at an estimated cost of $35,000, and will be paid for from the WCC Appeal for $2 million in behalf of victims of the Arab-Israeli war.

The Jordanian government has contributed $10,000 to the cost of the airlift from Pakistan to Jordan, according to WCC sources. In presenting a check, the Jordan government's minister of labor and social welfare, Saleh Burgan, thanked the council for service to Jordanians, both before and after the June war.

By buying the tents in Pakistan, council sources said: "A developing country in need of trade has also been helped."

About 55,000 refugees in the Jordan valley are presently living in tents. Early in the emergency, some contributed tents were those designed for holiday camping in Europe and the U.S. With bitter winter weather now developing, these tents need to be replaced quickly.

U.S. churches, through Church World Service, have undertaken to raise a million dollars toward the World Council appeal for refugee relief in the Middle East. CWS thus far has contributed, in funds and materials, $489,186 toward its pledge.

cover" and "no one will call on you."

Another of the new advertisements takes this form:

"Born in poverty. Lived only 33 years. Spent most of his life in obscurity. Never wrote a book. Never had any position in public life. Was crucified with two thieves, and yet 2,000 years later, more than 950 million people follow Him."

The Catholic Enquiry Center has been operating from an anonymous-looking building in the fashionable suburb of Hampstead since 1954. It sends out its plain-wrapped booklets to about 25,000 people each year, about 1,000 of whom later write to say they have been received into the Church.

A sample survey has shown that 46 per cent of those answering the center's advertisements are between the ages of 18 and 25. This was a major factor in causing the center to update its approach.

The original set of 21 booklets, one sent by mail each week, was revised and condensed to 11.

"THERE SEEMS to be a suspicion of all organized religion among the young," said Rev. James O'Brien, the young priest who took over direction of the center in November. "There is a much greater questioning about everything. And there is more uncertainty than ever before. We have had the leaflets made more scriptural and ecumenical. In fact, we are in a state of continual experimentation."

The real problem, said Father O'Brien, was to make Catholicism intelligible to people who had little or no acquaintance with the Christian faith at all — its message or its language.

The Enquiry Center operates on an annual budget of about $96,000, which is mostly raised through 3,500 promoters, each of whom undertakes to raise about estimated 50,000 sponsors. Donations and covenants bring in the rest.

Friends in Plea

A call for an end to the war in Vietnam was issued by the American Friends Service Committee in a public advertisement appearing in the New York Times.

"At this time of the holy days of four world faiths — Christianity, Judaism, Buddhism and Islam — when men's thoughts turn to peace, the American Friends Service Committee calls once again for the United States to take the lead in ending the war in Vietnam. We do not believe that good can come from the violence of this war to any of those engaged in it," the statement read in part.

FROM THE PULPIT

Those who can, will be going home for Christmas. Public transportation systems are jammed as long lines of people wait at the ticket windows.

No one tries harder than mom and dad to gather the family together for the holiday. Parental love always goes beyond the norm when it comes to their children.

Spiritually speaking, many have no home to look forward to in eternity. Men, who have been separated from God because of sin and disobedience, cannot enter into His presence. But God in love sent His Son to provide a way for the sinner to "come home."

"To as many as receive Him, to them He gave power to become the Son of God."

The prayer of our Church during this Christmas season is that you might accept Christ as your own personal Saviour.

Why don't you find a home for eternity this Christmas? Come to Calvary. Calvary is for you!

TRIED TO OUTSHOOT UCLA

Nice Try, Bradley

By LOEL SCHRADER
Bradley succumbed to the temptation to run and gun with UCLA Friday night before 12,476 spectators at Pauley Pavilion.

As a result, the previously unbeaten Braves became the 38th consecutive victim of the Bruins' destruction derby, 109-73, the third game in a row in which UCLA has sped past the century mark. More of the same is anticipated tonight when Notre Dame (6-1) meets the Bruins (4-0) at 8.

When Friday night's game was completed, Bradley coach Joe Stowell was asked if he would try to run again if given an opportunity for a rematch with the defending national champion Bruins.

"Well, we didn't plan to run against them tonight," he said. "But their zone press defense gave us a chance to get down fast for some good shots — the kind on which we've been hitting better than 50 per cent."

Therein lies the fateful mistake for the Braves, the same tactical error made by so many UCLA opponents. This permits the Bruins to set the tempo of the game, and the faster it is the better UCLA coach John Wooden likes it.

"We give up more points when we use the press," admitted Wooden. "But we score many more when we use it, too."

Even with 7-foot-1½ Lew Alcindor on the bench, the Bruins continued to increase their lead. Lew caught a finger in the right eye and sat out the final 13 minutes.

UCLA was leading by 25 points when he went out, and had a 38-point lead before forward Willie Betts hit a 20-footer for the Braves at the final buzzer.

Bradley used a 1-2-1 zone, with Betts playing Alcindor man-to-man. This was successful in keeping the ball away from Lew, but it let the Bruins play four-on-three in other areas. There are no other weaknesses, as the Braves were quick to learn.

Guard Mike Warren shredded the Braves' defense with expert outside marksmanship and wound up with 24 points. Mike Lynn, gradually rounding into the form that won him all-Coast honors two years ago, hit on 9 of 15 shots and had 22 points.

The Bruins shot 50 for 99 while the Braves, who had MILWAUKEE — Television armchair quarterbacks will learn today if the Rams can stay up in the football stratosphere for another week or whether they'll topple with a disillusioning crash.

The Rams reached a peak of awesome proficiency the past two weeks in disposing of Green Bay and Baltimore. But they have to do it all over again when they challenge the Packers' domain in the Western Conference playoff game at County Stadium.

The Rams are 3-point favorites.

George Allen's invading horde brings an eight-game winning streak to the 11:05 (PST) kickoff.

Included is a 27-24 victory over Vince Lombardi's Invincibles 14 days ago, when the Packers apparently had the Rams eliminated from contention only to have a blocked punt turn the game around in the final 54 seconds.

The Packers have won four out of the last six NFL titles, including the last two in a row. This is their second crack at three NFL titles in a row, accomplished only once before (by the Packers of 1929-30-31) and not since the playoff system was installed in 1933.

Weather more suited to the Packers and Eskimos is forecast. After temperatures dipped to 5 above early this morning, it should warm up to 18 in time for the game.

The weatherman said it will be partly sunny with a high around 18 degrees and westerly winds of 10 to 15 miles per hour.

George Allen has preached all week that any weather is Ram weather. But when temperatures dropped to 10 degrees during Friday's workout one player remarked, "This is Ram weather?"

LARSON'S LOSER: Rams 21, Packers 13

But the football game to decide the pro championship, of the West, and perhaps all points, figures to be reduced to one elementary, savage battle.

This will be the Rams' defense coming in assault waves to get Bart Starr, who guides the Pack.

And the Rams will not be coming daintily on tiptoes.

Starr's passing hand is also the one that could take $27,000 out of each of the Rams' pockets. That would be about the payoff for the finalists in the pro football elimination tournament.

Revealing a clear understanding of what must be done, Clancy Williams, the Rams' right cornerback, said, "If they don't get a rush on Starr, there won't be much we can do in the backfield to stop his passes."

The mission of David Jones and Merlin Olsen, both all-league, and Roger Brown and Lamar Lundy is clear: Search and, perhaps, destroy.

Starr is not a noted

3-POINT FAVORITES

scrambler. But he gave the Rams' 1,000-pound front four trouble two weeks ago my moving out of the pocket.

"This was a different Starr," said Lundy. "Usually, when he is about to be hit he curls up in a ball and goes down. You also know where to find him — in the pocket. But he was stepping out of it."

Deacon Jones concurred. "Starr put a fake on me the like of which Fran Tarkenton never did."

Bart did not run by design. He was trying to move around so he could spot his receivers because his accuracy was impaired by the Rams' towering front four. By so doing he kept the Packers alive.

But the other seven players Starr will see at the scrimmage line makes the Rams' defense deeper than merely the front four in talent and spirit, if not notoriety.

Allen, a defensive specialist, has installed what he calls a "total defense" in his two years as head coach. "The Rams could always stop the run. But they used to be last in interceptions and in giving up yardage on passes," said Allen.

The Rams have made a U turn in this department, picking off a league-leading 32 aeriels this year.

Thus, a war within a war will pit Allen's defensive genius against the arm and mind of Starr.

However, the Packers are confident to a man that they'll erase the Rams' hopes for their first title in 12 years.

Guard Jerry Kramer said, "If we can upset them early and break up their confidence a little, we might get them thinking about things again. Right now they think they're unbeatable. I'm sure

'Game of Year' for Rams' Quiet Owner

By JOHN DIXON
Sports Editor

MILWAUKEE — In 1951 the Rams were champions of the football world.

With hardly a whiff of first division air, it's been a long 16 years for their No. 1 fan.

Dan Reeves, prep school quarterback, owner, general manager, football fanatic for 40 seasons, expects this to be one of the great days of his life.

"It's been a wonderful year for the Rams, and this is the game of the year. We are playing the champs on their home grounds. Believe me, desire is not a problem."

"We can win if we don't make mistakes. We must control Green Bay's passing game."

"I view football about the same as the players and the coaches," says Reeves. "except that I don't think so much about money. You know, the players can earn an additional $27,000 each by winning three in a row.

"You don't play championship football for money. This is more important than money."

"Football isn't fun — it's exciting, emotional — but not fun."

Reeves purchased the Rams in 1941, moved the franchise from Cleveland to Los Angeles in 1946.

He bellwethered the expansion and television hooms, contracted players from Grambling before it was fashionable, established football's top scouting system. He's conservative — but a gambler.

He hired George Allen, who played little football, served only as an assistant.

"George was a highly successful coach, but he had never been a head coach. There's a major difference. Some people — in all fields — are more successful than others."

Allen credits Reeves with much of the success.

"Dan Reeves has cooperated beyond comprehension. There has been no front office resistance."

Reeves does not possess Walter O'Malley's flamboyance, Jack Kent Cooke's show biz flair. But his Rams are winners on the field and in the box office. They've lost one of 20 games, and their attendance is highest in history.

"The game has changed," Reeves points out. "It's much more sophisticated. Much better than a few years ago."

"We've had some great defensive players in the past—men such as Larry Brink, Jack Zilly, Bob Reinhardt, Dick Huffman — but this Ram team is a complete team. In many ways, this is the greatest of all Ram teams."

A Beverly Hills stockbroker, Reeves devotes 85 per cent of his time to the Rams. He makes the decisions.

But he can't turn back the clock to '51.

It's been a long wait for Mr. Ram.

 OVERTIME IF SCORE TIED

NEW YORK (AP) — If either of the National Football League conference championship games this weekend is tied at the end of regulation play, there will be a sudden-death overtime, with the first team to score taking the title.

The Rams are at Green Bay today in the Western Conference title game and Cleveland plays at Dallas Sunday for the Eastern Conference crown.

Laker Defense Stops Pistons

By DOUG IVES

Just when the frustrated Lakers needed a good laugh they got one Friday night, ending a 13-day winless streak with a 133-105 rout of the Detroit Pistons.

A crowd of 6,393, the last to watch pro basketball in the L.A. Sports Arena, had a few chuckles in the closing minutes and so did the usually tense Bill van Breda Kolff as the game was wrapped up early.

Actually, there was little doubt about the outcome at halftime. The Lakers built up a 39-21 lead after one period, kept the same margin despite a second-period letdown, and then once jumped ahead by 28 points in the third quarter.

"I almost forgot what it was like to win," laughed van Breda Kolff, who had never before suffered through a four-game losing streak, college or pro coaching.

The Pistons, who rely on the long-range shooting of Dave Bing and Eddie Miles, never were in contention as Bing missed his first five shots and Miles didn't hit a field goal until the last two minutes of the second period.

"Archie Clark's defense on Bing, and Jerry West's play on Miles were the big factors," said van Breda Kolff. "You shut them off and you should win. Detroit, like us, doesn't rely on power."

Elgin Baylor (24), Clark (23) and West (21) all had hot hands, and even seldom-used reserves Cliff Anderson, Dennis Hamilton and John Wetzel teamed with Jim Barnes and Gail Goodrich to outscore the Pistons, 32-31, in the last period.

Bing, who played his worst game of the year in Los Angeles on Nov. 23, finished with 18 points on 8 of 21 fielders. His sub, Jimmy Walker, had a horrible evening, making only 2 of 16 shots.

Len Chappell, who rarely gets off the bench, had an incredible night, making 11 of 12 from the field, 6 of 7 from the line to tie his career high of 29 points. Moreover, he pulled down 17 rebounds.

The Pistons, who have lost four of their last five games, were without the services of their tallest player, Joe Strawder, and his absence was noticeable on the boards in the decisive first period.

Baylor (12) and Tommy Hawkins (8) combined for 20 points, 8 of them on offensive rebounds they might not have made had Strawder been in the game. Against the bigger, stronger team the Lakers rarely get these "second shot" baskets.

The victory was the Lakers third in four meetings

Even fine shooter such as Oscar Robertson has troubles getting off shots at times. Could be the defense of Celtics Bailey Howell (18), Don Nelson (19) and Bill Russell. Cincy star missed shot.

TRAIL HAWKS BY 2 Warriors Prevail on Late Explosion

The San Francisco Warriors, downed by seven points late in the fourth quarter, stormed back behind the shooting of Fred Hetzel and the ball-stealing of Al Attles to beat San Diego, 103-97, Friday night.

The victory boosted the Warriors (24-12) to within two games of St. Louis, which leads the NBA's Western Division.

Down, 94-87, the Warriors went on a 14-1 tear to pull away from the last-place rockets in the game's waning moments.

The Boston Celtics, paced by John Havlicek's clutch shooting, won their sixth successive game, a 120-117 come-from-behind win over the Cincinnati Royals.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, the game's high scorer with 36 points, went over the 17,000-point career mark in the National Basketball Assn. contest. He now has 17,008 points since entering the league seven years ago.

Vikings Win Third Classic Crown

By DAVE DANIEL
Staff Writer
LOS ALTOS — Long Beach City College won its third consecutive North-

South Christmas Classic basketball championship Friday night by defeating Santa Monica City College, 70-63.

The Vikings had to play one of their finest defensive games of the year to hold back high-scoring Sid Wicks, who was voted the most valuable player of the tournament.

Led by Brian Berger, the Vikings held Wicks to 20 points and also held their own on the boards against the 6-foot-8 freshman. Berger, playing his finest game on offense and defense, scored 13 points and hauled down eight rebounds.

Balanced scoring was the key to the Viking attack as Shawn Johnson scored 18, followed by Gary Zeller with 15, Berger's 13, Sammy Washington's 12 and Ken Booker, who was an all-tournament selection, with 10.

The game was close the entire first half and the Vikings held only a 30-29 lead at the intermission.

The tempo picked up a bit in the final 20 minutes and coach Chuck Kane's crew boosted their advantage to 12 points at 58-46.

The Corsairs, who the Vikings may meet again next week in the SMCC Invitational, started pressing with six minutes to play and committed nine second half fouls.

Johnson and Zeller were the objects of most of the fouls and Johnson hit 6-of-6 from the line and Zeller 5-of-6. Between the two, they scored the final 11 points for LBCC.

Besides Booker and Wicks on the all-tourney team were Santa Monica's Bob Desjardins, Merced's Willie Cherry, Chabot's Don Crenshaw and Foothill's Jeff Frost.

Wicks won the rebounding title with 60.

In consolation games, Chabot defeated Merced, 87-75, for third place; Pierce whipped Foothill, 83-61, for fifth place and West Valley defeated San Jose for seventh place.

KENTUCKY RALLIES FOR WIN Vanderbilt Beats Seton Hall

Combined News Services
Third-ranked Vanderbilt awakened in the second half and rolled to an 85-67 victory over Seton Hall Friday night in the second game of the Vanderbilt Invitational tournament.

Seventh-ranked Kentucky watched an 18-point lead vanish before the Wildcats pulled out an 88-85 basketball victory over Dayton in the University of Kentucky Invitational Tournament.

South Carolina nipped Cincinnati 64-61 in the first game of a doubleheader and will meet Kentucky tonight for the title.

Duquesne rolled to its sixth basketball victory, whipping St. Mary's of California, 83-58, behind a 26-point performance by Moe Barr.

Sophomore Pete Maravich hit 58 points to break the Southeastern Conference scoring record and lead the Louisiana State University tigers to a 111-87 conference win over Mississippi State.

Big Bob Lanier's 34 points and a record 27 rebounds led unbeaten St. Bonaventure to its eighth straight victory, 94-78, over Loyola of Baltimore.

Reserve Hank Sueth came off the bench and boosted Purdue to a 67-65 college basketball victory over Miami of Ohio.

Purdue, which trailed 37-31 at the half, fell behind 10 points in the second half before rallying to catch Miami. Sueth, who got only six points for the evening, dropped in a pair of free throws with 6:46 to play to tie the game at 53-53. The game tied at 57-57, Sueth came up with a three-point play to give the Boilermakers the lead for good.

they feel that way now."

Defensive end Willie Davis: "I'm not worried about getting up for this game — anyone who can't is in the wrong business or has been in this business too long. If we don't do well on the 23rd, there is no tomorrow — no Dec. 31. (NFL championship game), no 14th (of January, Super Bowl).

"It all boils down to our pride and importance for 60 minutes Saturday — every cause worth fighting for — our existence, our economic lives, the Green Bay Packers."

Each player on both sides will receive a full game's salary for today's work, but the important thing will be what follows for the winners. For the losers, it will be Miami and the Playoff Bowl for conference runner-up honors against the second best of the East Jan. 7.

St. Anthony Dumped by Dons, 58-52

St. Anthony tried to come back from an 18-point halftime deficit but the Saints came up six points short as they fell to Dominguez, 58-52, Friday night in the Saints' gym.

The Saints closed to four points at one time in the fourth period, but Dominguez' first-half domination was too much. Don Sumnich scored 19 for the Dons.

Tom Motley continued his scoring ways, pouring in 22 for St. Anthony. The Saints now stand 4-1 in non-league play.
